Jet Pilots Follow Leader to Death

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—Three jet fighters, part of a night training flight, suddenly whipped out of formation early Wednesday and crashed follow-the-leader fashion one after another into the Atlantic. All three pilots were killed.

Officers at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base had no explanation for the crash. There was no collision.

AFTER WRANGLING TWO DAYS ENVOYS GET DOWN TO WORK

West Forces Pace

GENEVA, May 13 (UPI)—The East-West foreign ministers conference set a postwar record yesterday by getting down to work without an agreed agenda after only two days of procedural wrangle.

The West forced the pace of the four-power parley by bypassing procedural differences with the Soviet Union and plunging over Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko's head into the substance of the conference.

Russia, significantly, gave in to the West's insistence on shelving the controversial issue of Polish and Czech representation at the conference.

PACKAGE PLAN

The West will today present the East-West foreign ministers' conference with a three-phase package plan combining a German settlement with big reductions in United States and Russian armed forces.

The Soviets probably will bring the procedural issue up at some later stage of the conference, but the fact remains they made no stand to force their demand for seating the Poles and Czechs.

Gromyko's acquiescence strongly indicated Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's desire to avoid an early clash with the West which could jeopardize his much-cherished trip to the summit.

GIVEN IN TWICE

The Soviets thus have given in on the two major procedural points which threatened the conference from the start: they bowed to the Western opposition against admission of the East Germans as full conference partners, and allowed the temporary shelving of Polish and Czech participation.

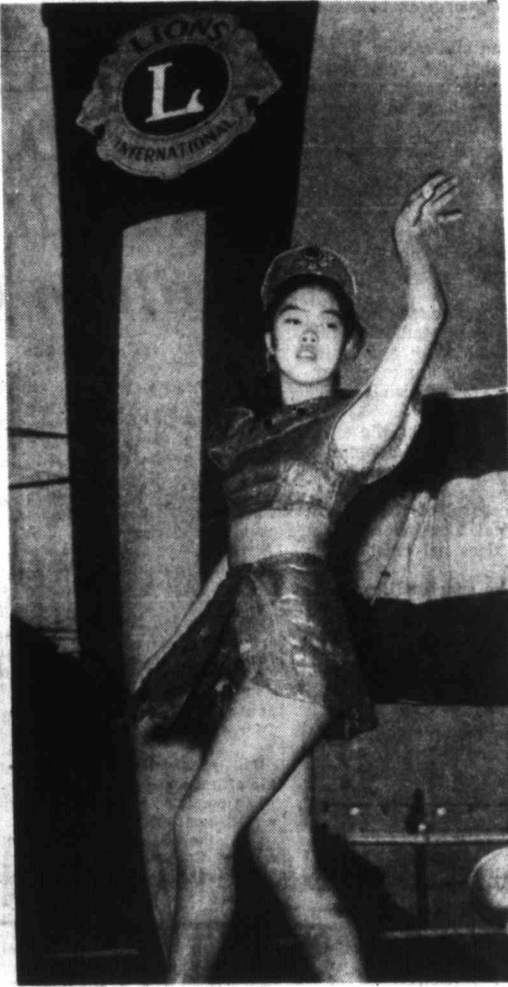

Most of the procedural squabble was resolved in backstage talks, instead of at the conference table in the limelight of world publicity.

But Gromyko was certain to chalk up "concessions" and use them to back demands for Western counter-concessions on the more basic issues of the cold war.

Food Stall Once More In Market

Victoria's surplus food stall, distributing free food to the needy, will be held for the last time in the old market building on May 23. The food stall will shift to new quarters at the rear of the Elks Home at 732A Cormorant.

Rotten Fish Dealer Charged in Death

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The president of a seafood firm and his foreman were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday in connection with distribution of poisoned fish which allegedly resulted in the death of a boy and the illness of 200 other persons.

U.S. attorney Harold K. Wood said the government expects to prove that poisonous sodium nitrite "was deliberately used to treat fish which was not otherwise saleable because of spoilage and to give it the appearance of fresh, wholesome fish."

'Dealer in Death' Given 14 Years, $10,000 Fine

VANCOUVER (CP)—A convicted narcotics peddler, Steve Bohack, 40, described in court as "a dealer in death," was sentenced to a maximum 14 years and fined $10,000 by county court Judge J. A. McGeer Wednesday.

Overseas Post For Pearkes?

Defence Minister George Pearkes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, is being considered for a post as Canadian ambassador in Belgium or Holland. The Daily Colonist learned last night. An alternative position, it was suggested, is an elevation to the senate.

'Illegal' Procedures

Hockey Stars Got $57,000 from City

TORONTO (UPI)—The auditor who checks the books for the city of Belleville said Wednesday the city paid out nearly $57,000 in salaries to the world champion Belleville McFarlands hockey team over the past three years.

Bulletins

GENEVA — Foreign ministers of United States, Britain and Russia agreed to hold a private meeting today on the three-power negotiations for a nuclear test ban.

LIMA, Peru — A Peruvian airliner carrying eight persons, including Cornelius Sans, a Canadian geophysicist, is missing over a dense jungle area.

CHICAGO — Chicago's skyline was blurred Wednesday by dust from Canadian and Dakota dustbowl areas.

MARYSVILLE, Wash. — A spectacular fire rocketed 50-gallon drums as far as 400 feet, destroyed the Reinel Boat Works and burned out telephone lines to this Snohomish county community.

Talk It Out—Mayor

Strike Threat Still Menacing

Possibility of a strike of Victoria city's outside workers appeared little diminished yesterday as the result of a 2½-hour meeting of union representatives and city manager C. C. Wyatt.

"There was nothing conclusive at all," Mr. Wyatt said afterward.

But, he said, he did make a point "of the fact that every step should be taken to prevent a strike because of the inconvenience to the public." And he said he thought it possible there would be another meeting.

Before the meeting, Mayor Percy Scurrell had said he hoped the Civic Employees' Protective Union, representing about 250 outside workers, would agree to arbitration, "because there is going to be a compromise somewhere along the line, and why not talk it out instead of striking?"

Union members voted Monday and Tuesday approximately 95 per cent in favor of striking if necessary to back up their demand for a bigger wage increase than the 7½ cents an hour city council has offered.

The union earlier had expressed willingness to accept the increase of 19 cents an hour recommended in the majority report of a conciliation board.

NO GREAT ALARM

City officials showed no great alarm over the prospect of an outside workers' strike, especially at this season.

A short-lived strike by the same union in 1954, ending in arbitration, produced little hardship for citizens.

The streets became unsightly in places for lack of cleaning, and some of the aldermen received threats that uncollected garbage would be dumped on their lawns.

Street-lighting and traffic signals are taken care of by members of another union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and lack of garbage collection probably would be the biggest problem in a strike.

"Inside" workers at city hall wouldn't collect it, either, an official of the inside workers' union said yesterday.

Firms Pay One-Tenth Theft Value

TORONTO (CP)—An insurance company in an "underworld" deal has bought back $1,409,787 worth of stolen bonds at 10 cents on the dollar, Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario, said Wednesday.

He disclosed the behind-the-scenes deal as he flicked through the pages of another chapter in the history of the multi-million-dollar robbery of the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Company.

Police investigation has extended as far as Switzerland since a slick crew equipped with $600 worth of vault-breaking tools carted off loot totalling an estimated $10,000,000 the weekend of May 3-4, 1958.

All but $310,000 "has been accounted for or traced." However, $2,300,000 in bonds was still outstanding.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

AMERICAN manufacturers have shown themselves to be sore losers again.

An Anglo-Canadian company, the John Inglis Company of Toronto, offered to install eight electric turbines for a South Dakota dam at a price of $6,467,613.

The lowest bid by a United States company was $9,301,613. But American manufacturers went into hysterics at the suggestion that an order might be placed with a non-American firm.

The United States army, which was building the dam, gave the order to an American firm, after all. The decision meant loading an extra $3,000,000 on the American taxpayers, and fanning Canada's smoldering resentment of the United States.

Americans are free to place their orders where they wish. But if they are resolved not to accept foreign products, why do they accept bids from Canadian and British firms?

It takes considerable time and money to prepare a tender for a job of such size. Why should Americans pretend that they are ready to accept such tenders, when in fact they have no intention of doing so?

Why should Canadian and British firms take part in the game when the referee is working for the other team and he has the power to change the rules at half time?

American industrial giants have not hesitated to squeeze out Canadian and British firms by politico-military pressure.

Britain built a factory to produce tanks for West Germany, but the Americans pulled certain strings. The Germans cancelled their orders for British tanks and ordered inferior tanks of American manufacture instead. The British factory had to close down.

Two cold wars are being fought at the same time: between the west and the communist world; and between the United States and her allies.

The faction which has control of the eastern world is tough, cruel and cynical. Freedom as many of us in the west define it, does not exist under communism.

Yet the United States, the supposed leader of the west, is greatly swayed by groups of men who are selfish, corrupt and ignorant. Many American actions have apparently been aimed to reduce Canada, Britain and other countries to economic slavery.

We are too small to win an economic battle with the United States. I suppose the best we can do is fight a delaying action. We could try to stem the American advance, loosen the American grip on our resources; delay the export of non-renewable resources like iron ore, until we can process them in Canada.

Meanwhile, we could be increasing our population, trying to develop new products and new markets, underselling the Americans abroad when possible, sending technical teams to raise the living standards of underdeveloped countries and selling those peoples our goods.

'Foreign Aid' Stars Of School Concert

By BERT BINNY

Oak Bay Junior High School, with notable aid from a "foreign" group, last night staged a vigorous spring concert before an approving audience.

There was choral and solo singing, tumbling, dancing, a play, band music and guest artists in the form of the Victoria Schools Orchestra, which has been covering itself with glory both in Victoria and in the State of Washington.

Three numbers by the school band — a march, an overture and a somewhat occult arrangement of "Deep River" — opened the program. The band made some notable musical achievements from time to time.

Margaret Mawle, who did well in the musical festival, was last night's vocal soloist; Shirley Naylor performs to night.

The schools orchestra, which includes members from Oak Bay Junior High School, was at its best — and it is a wonderful best — in Frescobaldi's "Toccata."

Two school choirs performed, Grade 7 making a particularly fine job of "Way-lar-ing Stranger," which was always clear and fresh. A much larger choir from Grades 8 and 9 sang Hahn's "Green Cathedral" quite beautifully, and showed a remarkable degree of control and flexibility in their show selections.

The gymnasts, boys and girls, were vastly energetic and in several cases displayed a most promising form.

Two folk dances completed the first half of the program and the whole second half was occupied by the play, "Paddy Pools," the school's festival entry which received much commendation from adjudicator Anne Mossman.

The concert is on again to night at 8 and there is certainly enough in it to justify a visit.

'Amazing Manner' Lauded

Long Standing Ovation Greets Billy McAdam

More than 120 men from business, government, church and education gathered at the Empress Hotel last night to honor W. A. McAdam, British Columbia's goodwill ambassador in London for 35 years.

"In one way or another we have all rubbed shoulders over the years with Billy McAdam," Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston told the gathering.

REMOTE CONTROL

On behalf of the provincial government, Attorney-General Robert Bonner presented Mr. McAdam with a television set, complete with remote control. When Mr. McAdam stood to accept the gift, he was given a five-minute standing ovation. Mr. McAdam spoke at length of the accomplishments he had seen as agent-general at British Columbia House in London.

ALL CO-OPERATED

"I have served under eight different governments and have had the fullest co-operation from them all," he said. "The ties that unite this province with the United Kingdom are stronger today than ever before," he said. "I commend the people of this province for their earnest endeavor to buy British goods as much as possible."

ANSCOMB SPEAKER

One of those to rise to commend Mr. McAdam was former B.C. Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb, who said "he had an amazing manner with people and he used it to the advantage of British Columbia."

His successor, Maj. Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, attended the appreciation dinner and said he knew full well that he had "some mighty big shoes to follow."

Gen. Hoffmeister warned that the people of Europe are "preoccupied with the shadow of economic war and are really digging in."

Ottawa Highlights

John D. Wants Small Cars Built in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker made it plain Wednesday that if United States manufacturers go into the small-car business, the federal government wants Canadian automobile plants to follow suit.

He said he "will confer here Saturday with heads of Canadian subsidiaries of the U.S. Big Three companies to decide what course to follow."

The government is giving the impression that it is adding $200,000,000 in unemployment insurance benefits when in fact workers and employers will be paying for 80 per cent of that amount. Liberal leader Pearson said Wednesday.

Labor Minister Starr said his officials are "doing everything possible" to bring about a settlement of the dispute between the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and its technicians.

The Senate Wednesday rejected a resolution which urged steps to increase use of Atlantic ports and a five-month winter closure on St. Lawrence harbors to lessen the impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway on east coast operations.

Seaplanes using Vancouver harbor are to be provided with a bigger area and a new site to reduce taxiing to a minimum. Transport Minister Hees said.

The changes follow negotiations between the national harbor board and civil aviation officials.

Defence Production Minister O'Hurley said Wednesday he knows of no contracts for aircraft parts awarded to the Canadian Car Company of Fort William.

He was replying to MPs who quoted Premier Frost of Ontario as saying such contracts would be announced in the next two months.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker reported "good progress" in talks between Canadian and Japanese officials on an agreement on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Speaker Roland Michener declined to allow Postmaster-General Hamilton to "run the risk" of explaining to the House what a "symbolic woman" was.

Students Win Tuition Grants

Horn, Mayhew, Hollick Top Names on List

Michiel S. D. Horn, with 93.3 per cent in first year, and Anne L. Mayhew, with 86.8 per cent in second year, led arts and science students in Victoria College's 1959 examinations.

Roger F. Hollick, with 77.3 per cent, led in first-year commerce and business administration.

Results of the examinations were announced yesterday, and this year for the first time they had a special significance:

first and second-class marks will qualify the students to receive grants from the provincial government toward tuition fees in the next academic year.

Winners of first-class honors will qualify for grants of one-half of their tuition fees—the basic fee will be $222 next term—and 2,000 B.C. students who have second-class marks will receive one-third of their tuition fees.

Next to Mr. Horn in first-year arts and science was John L. Scadding, with 89.7 per cent, and next to Miss Mayhew in second year was Christopher L. Gardner, with 85.6 per cent. Nineteen-year-old Mr. Horn, of 523 Harbinger, came to Victoria from Holland with his family seven years ago, graduated from Victoria High School at 16, and worked in a bank for two years to save for his college education. He hasn't chosen a career yet.

Miss Mayhew, 20, of 2797 Musgrave, is a granddaughter of Hon. R. W. Mayhew, former federal cabinet minister and ambassador to Japan. When she entered Victoria College, she was looking forward to a career in journalism; now, she said yesterday, she has decided on clinical psychology and will go to McGill University in the fall.

Mr. Scadding, of 1190 Rock, intends to major in economics, and Mr. Gardner, 3371 Happy Valley Road, has chosen industrial research as his career. He will study chemistry at UBC next fall.

Chronic Bleeding Ended?

MONTREAL (CP)—Doctors report a brighter outlook for persons suffering from hemophilia, a tendency to bleed from even a slight injury.

This is due to the advance in the use of a new concentrated blood plasma containing an even higher quantity of the essential clotting agent missing in the blood of the hemophiliac.

An example is the recent case of a hemophiliac, a hospital patient here, who had five teeth extracted—an unheard-of feat a few years ago. At one time the best doctors could do was to take one tooth out at a time over a period of years.

Dr. Cecil Harris, head of the hemophiliac centre at the hospital, says that he and other doctors are "anxiously awaiting" supplies of this new plasma, which is still comparatively scarce.

Railway Commission

THE Progressive Conservative administration at Ottawa will be commended for setting up a royal commission with powers wide enough to study all phases of railway operation in Canada. The eight-man panel chosen with Hon. Charles P. McTague as chairman will have representatives from across the country, including Mr. Herbert Anscomb of this city. The function of the commission as outlined by Prime Minister Diefenbaker will be to study the problems of railway transportation in all parts of the country; including service to the public, freight and other charges, and the financing of what is today one of the largest operations in the country.

In one sense this is what eight of the ten Provinces have been seeking consistently through the years—a thorough-going investigation of the railway structure, with the object of formulating national policy inclusive of the whole field. The Provinces centred their reiterated requests on the uneven effects of the present rate control methods, but at all times they have understood and emphasized the need for a uniform policy which would serve the nation. So the McTague commission will certainly be welcomed by the provinces, and the more so because the terms of reference are broad enough to include both short-run and long-term needs.

Mr. Diefenbaker in announcing the personnel of the commission said that the Crows Nest Pass rates will not be interfered with, but outside of that the commission will have power to inquire into every phase of rail transportation in the light of the changing conditions of the times. From the administration's standpoint, the delay involved in the inquiry should be more than offset by the fact-finding results of the report. The government's task then will be to formulate a national policy more in line with current needs.

Warning to Householders

DURING the past several years the Chamber of Commerce, the building industry and the press repeatedly have urged householders, especially elderly people or women living alone, to be on their guard against fly-by-night operators in what has grown into a North American racket of major proportions: the "repairing" of chimneys, roofs and so forth. Those against whom warnings have been issued are fast-talking men operating without a business address. They are adept both in the art of persuading gullible householders to engage them for work at an exorbitant final price, and at covering their tracks when they skip town.

For their own protection—home owners have been advised times without number to deal only with established local contractors with a reputation to maintain and a business address as evidence of their bona fides. Then along comes a case such as the one before the County Court in Victoria this week, in which two men operating under a company name listed in the telephone book were ordered to repay $900 of a total of $1,420 they had collected for certain repairs to drains and tiles at the home of a retired woman. The repayment order was based on the judge's finding that the defendants had made representations "calculated to deceive."

Contradictory as the facts may appear, this case should serve to strengthen public confidence in the integrity of the local building industry and its vigilance in policing its own field of operation. The Victoria Building Industries Exchange through its president, and also the Home Builders' Association, two organizations composed of contracting firms, were largely instrumental in bringing the case to trial, carrying out preliminary investigation of the complaint and assisting the plaintiff with expert evidence in court.

The outcome of the case thus becomes one further illustration of the importance of examining offers of service and price estimates with the utmost care before entering into a contract, and of seeking legal or technical advice if any doubt is aroused as to the terms of the contract or the reliability of those seeking the job.

The Same at Home

THE Soviet foreign minister at Geneva is not likely to draw many "hear, hears" from the West, but in the field of broadcasting it seems that Russia and North America are by no means poles apart. The Soviet party paper, Pravda, has been sounding a warning that has a familiar tone. It condemns Russian radio and television programs as banal, often vulgar, weak and "little thought out." There are many Canadians who would agree the criticisms could be applied to this country.

Says Pravda: "It is up to radio and television workers to listen to the demands of their audience of many millions and to consider their requests and criticisms. Every program must be interesting, significant and of high literary and artistic standard, and enrich the people with a knowledge of the many-sided life in the Soviet Union and present a broad picture of international affairs."

Substituting should for must, since ours is a free society, some of the foregoing might well be addressed to North Americans. It would be too much to ask that every program should be of top artistic content, for the commonality of people don't live on that level, but they needn't be as lowbrow as so often they are. Producers quite obviously don't rate listening intelligence very highly. The CBC sets itself a standard, but the same cannot be said of some other programs listened to or watched by local receivers.

It is the "entertainment" aspect apparently geared to the lowest common denominator and particularly in television, that gives most offence. Even confirmed TV addicts complain about the large amount of trash that is served up to them. Television is a consuming medium and a consistent level of quality is difficult to maintain, but if producers gave watchers credit for better taste they might do their job more satisfactorily. TV advertising, for instance, is for a great part puerile and frequently absurd, as though it were addressed to morons.

If international politics is something that nations find hard to agree on, it would seem that on the home fronts they have much in common.

Interpreting the News

Both Sides Cautious

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE Big Four foreign ministers' talks now unfolding in Geneva essentially constitute a curtain-raiser for the larger international drama—the Big Four summit meeting.

Not too much may be conceded by either side—Soviet or Western—in these preliminary discussions. Both can be expected to want to hold something in reserve for their leaders to use as negotiating points at the summit level.

In a sense, the foreign ministers can be said to be opening negotiations which their leaders will bring to fruition at the summit level—provided these preliminary talks provide evidence that a summit get-together really will be worth while.

Just how far each side will go in responding to the other at Geneva remains to be seen. The main purpose in the talks, as far as the West is concerned, is to determine whether Moscow really is serious about negotiating a settlement of the related Berlin and German questions and, possibly, the security of central Europe as a whole.

If Foreign Minister Gromyko provides evidence of some "give" in the Soviet position, then a summit meeting is a foregone conclusion. If, however, his tactics indicate that the Russians have no real intention of talking business, the Western powers then must consider whether there is anything to be gained in meeting face to face with Premier Khrushchev.

The Soviet Union has entered the discussions with reluctance and because the United States has long insisted on what it called "adequate" preparations before going to the summit.

In public pronouncements both sides have pleaded a willingness to negotiate. Both have been careful to avoid assuming immovable positions, issuing ultimatums or voicing unyielding demands.

If the pre-conference statements are borne out, there may be enough progress, in the Western view, to justify acceptance of a heads-of-government meeting this summer.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE world scene is brightening. When foreign ministers squabble about whether to sit at a round table or a square one there is still some hope left.

Even if picayune such preoccupation does sound more natural to human beings than do H-bombs.

Another ray serene shone this week. Mr. Khrushchev told his people "we can see to it" that there will be no war. Since he probably has more power in his pinkie than any counterpart on our side has in his whole right hand, this is a cheerful pronouncement.

Mr. Khrushchev, no doubt, could be a good fixer if he felt so disposed.

True enough the day before he was telling the world how he could smash the West, but let's keep looking on the bright side.

For instance, another notable figure has been saying a soothing thing too; soothing for us, at least. He is Field Marshal Montgomery.

You might interject at this point that the aforesaid field marshal has been saying rather a lot lately. I agree, although I don't join the pack at his heels.

To turn aside for a moment. The fury with which the numerous newsmen have turned on Monty is astonishing. Just as though they've been pent up to explosion point and he is the handy victim.

It may be psychological. They've been dealing for years in gloss and along comes Monty to spill the beans with blunt words. Perhaps they've longed to say what he said and feel cheated.

The funny thing is that not too long ago they were all mighty glad Monty wasn't a shrinking violet. If he had been we might still be in the Western Desert.

However, don't let this put you off too much. Monty is worth listening to.

At any rate, at a dinner before he went to Moscow, he expressed the belief that the next great war wouldn't be in Europe. Since he didn't mean North America either this is worth hugging to our bosom.

As the field marshal sees it, the next conflict will be between Russia and China—in about 20 years time.

"That is exactly what you want," he told his listeners. Probably none of them exactly want that, but being human no doubt they'd prefer that if there has to be a war it should be a long way off from them.

Blunt as usual—give him credit for consistency—when he was in Moscow Monty asked Khrushchev point-blank if Russia was frightened of China.

The Soviet premier said no. China and Russia were two nations back to back, looking after each other's rear areas.

So they are, but it wouldn't be strange if they fell out sometime, perhaps quarrelling over the back fence. Neighbors have done that before.

Anyway, it's a thought to take the peril off our own doorstep.

Montgomery also had told his dinner-meeting that such a conflict would be "the right war in the right place."

It's selfish of us to think this, but then we've been in so many wars to save the world. It would be refreshing for a change just to sit back and look on, carefully refraining from applause.

Reports from Ottawa

COMELY Joyce Davidson asked Mike Pearson "What next?" the other night in a TV interview, and the Liberal leader made three points in this sequence:

He wants to restore the Liberal Party to a position of responsibility—i.e., to win a general election.

He wants to find a younger man to replace him—a man infused with a desire to serve the people and possessing, above all, great integrity.

He wants to realize a personal ambition: to have time to read, to think and to write.

Some persons took this to mean that Pearson is thinking of retiring as Liberal leader. And since the next election is not expected until 1962, an openly expressed desire to retire would have to be translated into action well before then. No party could go to the people with a leader and prospective prime minister who was known to be about to retire.

However, Liberals may now rest easier. At 62, Pearson is not thinking of retiring. He has every intention of leading the party as its candidate for prime minister in 1962.

"I have not changed my mind concerning my present job," he told me. "What I said in the TV interview has no bearing on my contemporary plans. It's only that, like most people I guess, eventually I want a little easier life. But that's a long way away yet."

Pearson seemed a little upset—and from a political point of view I would judge with cause—that some persons had taken his words to preface a fairly imminent retirement. Unwittingly he has sown this idea in the minds of a number of those who saw the telecast, and explanations will never completely eradicate that impression.

I have never been among those who think the Liberal convention made the wrong choice in picking Pearson. No Liberal leaders could have halted the Conservatives last spring. And while Pearson was initially inept as an opposition politician, in the opinion of many observers he has done an impressive job in the last six months.

Most members of the small Liberal opposition are men who had little weight in the days of St. Laurent government. Pearson took these long neglected back benchers and moulded them into a surprisingly effective team. By judiciously encouraging initiative and bestowing responsibility, he brought out abilities which one would not have suspected two years ago. Jack Garland, Bill Houck, Herve Michaud, Dr. Bill McMillan, Alan Macnaughton, Maurice Bourget and others are proving themselves in opposition.

Pearson's policy in Parliament has been to criticize shortcomings, to oppose government policies he believes are wrong, and to expose sham. He has done this well.

His great handicap as a partisan politician is his highly developed ability to see the other person's point of view—a legacy of 30 years in the diplomatic service. But this evidence of his fairness and integrity is probably not wholly lost on the voters. In my opinion it would contribute much towards his stature as a prime minister. But first he has to achieve that initial objective of his: the restoration of the Liberal Party to a position of responsibility. And there are those, like John Diefenbaker, who do not take kindly to this ambition.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

IN the neighborly world in which most of our communities were designed, houses were built with their fronts on the street. Front doors, front porches and living room windows faced the public.

The tradition has persisted to this day. But nobody sits on front porches any more.

The streets on which the windows looked out, in former times, were pleasant thoroughfares through which only occasional vehicles passed, and neighbors were to be seen walking by. Walking. Front doors were for running to, in order to call out a greeting to the neighbor strolling by.

Streets today are filled with swiftly passing strangers. Noisy traffic hustles by. It gives you a sense of loneliness to look at the street and all its heedless fugitives.

The backs of houses should face the modern street, for the convenience of deliverymen. Street doors should be what they used to call tradesmen's entrances.

And so help me, that is what some of the newest and smartest suburban housing developments are doing. True, some pretty style still characterizes the street front of the houses. But the true front, the great picture windows, the living rooms, the homeliest doors decorated with ornamental bushes and flowers, all face in upon the garden.

What we can see are the windows, porches, garden chairs of our neighbors in their gardens. We are turning inward for neighborliness.

Furious Jockeys . . .

Minimum of Agreement

By MARQUIS CHILDS

GENEVA—In all the hundreds of hours of preparation, the long, weary conferences in Washington, Paris and London, the thousands upon thousands of words spoken and written, the tedious backing and filling over the same rather barren ground, the Western Powers agreed on one small nugget that may prove useful now that the conference has actually begun. They agreed that, just as soon as the Russians can be persuaded to it, the four foreign ministers will hold private sessions with only their interpreters present.

They will, in short, try to move from an atmosphere dominated by the loud drumbeat of propaganda to meaningful negotiations as free as possible from the vast apparatus of publicity surrounding this exercise. Whether the Russians go along may determine fairly early the extent of "progress" that can be achieved at this point halfway up the summit.

The feeling among almost all Western diplomats about the full-dress plenary sessions is that they are almost useless. The temptation to propagandize and counter-propagandize is too great.

At the plenary sessions each foreign minister seated at the conference table is backed by a great wedge of aides and advisers. He may have behind him 30 to 40 experts and specialists ready to supply facts, figures, suggestions and any additional rhetoric that may be necessary for the propaganda bonfire. For this phalanx the minister is like a general exhorting his troops on the eve of battle.

When such a session ends each delegation has its briefing officer give the delegation's own version of what happened at the session. This may be given an extra coloration of propaganda, as is frequently the custom with the Russians, or it may be an effort to present factually what came from each side, as is customary with the Americans. In addition, each delegation gives more or less frequent private briefings for each country's own correspondents, with stress on national views and objectives.

Through this filter, by way of a thousand or more correspondents, news of the conference reaches the world. It is small wonder that the picture which comes through this distorting glass is one of a race ridden by furious jockeys, each striving for the best position. While "leaks" may come out of the private sessions there is at least a better chance that serious negotiations can take place in private.

That opportunity is not likely to come in the first week or two of this conference. The opening sessions seem certain to be concerned with whether and when and how Poland and Czechoslovakia shall be seated at the conference table and whether and how the two Germans shall be present.

On Poland and Czechoslovakia it seems inevitable that Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko must make a great propaganda bid. This is called for if only to prove Russia's loyalty to her "allies," especially touching phases of the German problems related to Poland's borders. But it also concerns Moscow's unhappiness over the fact that the Soviet delegate at these conferences sits facing three Western delegates.

Thus outnumbered, the Russians raise the question of "parity." Should they press this to the extent of demanding full presentation for the Poles and the Czechs, it can mean a very long delay.

The West is prepared to let Poland and Czechoslovakia sit in when matters directly concerning them are up. But they will not yield on full representation. Such a demand will be met with the counter that Italy and perhaps other Western Allies should sit here, too.

France is prepared to press the cause of Italy to the limit. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville is predicting that the conference will last four to five weeks at a minimum and adding that in his belief it should go on much longer, since one way to convince the Russians of the West's determination to stand firm is to be willing to go through with a tough and long-drawn-out talkathon. Secretary of State Herter is more optimistic with a guess of three weeks.

But however long it lasts, and a month is a fair estimate, the prospect at the foreign ministers' level is for a maximum of propaganda and a minimum of agreement. The agreement is likely to cover little more than the subjects which the heads of government must wrestle with in August. But this will be taken as justification for the summit conference, which may well have been inevitable from the moment that Premier Khrushchev precipitated the crisis over Berlin last November.

Letters to the Editor

Excelled by None

No doubt many besides myself will deplore the bad taste and worse criticism of Mr. Rogers' letter entitled "Victoria the Drab."

Mr. Rogers forgets, I think, that England is in every sense an old country, many centuries old, with ancient customs and traditions. Victoria is new, just over 100 years old; yet in that short time she has accomplished a great deal of which we, and in fact all Canadians, can well be proud, easterners included. While much, perhaps, could be improved, "Rome was not built in a day."

My roots are deep in English soil, yet having come out to this great country in 1911, and lived in Victoria since 1929, I would rather live here than anywhere else.

All the fuss about "bobbies" seems rather silly to my mind. Personally, I wonder why they ever changed their dignified appearance, which gave such a distinctive charm to the city, but as for their courtesy and kindness, as well as their efficiency, I do not believe those could be excelled in any city across Canada.

City of Pleasant Ways

If we could attract tourists we should be ourselves. The idea of copying anyone or anything else is theatrical. Why England, and appear older than we are? The bobby helmet? After all, we are Victoria and as the capital city have a charm of our own; primarily residential and retiring and neither the Great White Way nor the commercial colossus is patent to our people.

Any attempt to make ourselves out to be what we are not can only disappoint. However, we do have solid attractions: all the way from civic consciousness and artistic Legislative Buildings to Thunderbird Park and the world's tallest totem.

And we are a city of pleasant ways of meeting and doing business, friendly to the visitor and awake to our possibilities as a university atmosphere.

We cannot change these things for tourists. Let the tourist judge us for ourselves, for what we are.

ALAN LESLIE GREIG.

Drastic but True

In Saturday's Colonist there was a letter, "Victoria the Drab," by a Mr. Rogers. I was not surprised at his very forthright criticism, which was drastic but truthful.

What should be an outstandingly beautiful city has developed into a jumble of houses blanketing the waterfront, which should have been guarded as public property. We have one park, Beacon Hill, that a bunch of unwhipped vandals wreck when the spirit moves them. Evidently those responsible for the development of Victoria have had very little experience outside Vancouver Island.

In regard to bobby helmets, it would be more in character to have some similarity to that of the RCMP, which is purely Canadian. In regard to his comparison of the similarity of the Canadian to the American, I certainly do not agree, having met the Canadian soldier abroad and many other types of nationalities. He always struck me as a man of intelligence, integrity and dignity beyond the ordinary type of individual I contacted.

4,400 Teamsters Reject Any Political Affiliation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four locals of the teamsters union with a total membership of 4,400 have withdrawn from the B.C. Federation of Labor in protest over the use of a per capita tax and the federation's political action program.

Ed Lawson, secretary of 231, one of the four locals, said Wednesday that the members feel that a 4-cent monthly per capita tax could be put to better use.

He said the 100,000-member federation strongly supports the CCF and teamster policy is not to go into politics.

He said the money gained from the tax is used against the teamsters in some cases. Asked for an explanation, he said the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) is "close to the federation" and in direct competition with the teamsters.

Roblin Out for Majority As Manitoba Votes Today

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin, whose Progressive Conservatives last year ended 36 years of Liberal-Progressive domination of Manitoba politics, is seeking in today's provincial election to obtain a clear majority in the legislature.

The Conservatives and Liberal-Progressives each are contesting all 55 seats at stake, and the CCF has 44 candidates. There are three independent candidates and three representing the Labor-Progressive party.

The Social Credit party, which had 12 candidates in the last election, has not entered this year's fight.

Premier Roblin campaigned for a clear majority, saying that the voters had a choice between his program of expanded government services and "retreat" with the Liberal-Progressives.

Mr. Campbell, charged that the Conservatives were going too far too fast, said implementation of the government program would increase the provincial debt and mean an increase in taxes.

Election meetings in the country were well attended, but crowds were small in Winnipeg and candidates put most of their effort into doorbell-ringing campaigns. Television was used extensively by party leaders in urban areas.

Recent weather has been wet and cold but the forecast for election day was sunny and warmer.

Manning Denies Oil 'Sell-Out'

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning has denied Liberal charges that his Social Credit government will start a campaign to sell oil reservations to wipe out its budget deficit of $48,000,000 this year.

Liberal Leader Grant MacEwan charged that the sale campaign will be a "large sell-out" with "most of the rights going to large companies outside the country."

Mosley Stirring Trouble; Adenauer Doesn't Like It

German Note Says Britain Underestimates Problem

By OMER ANDERSON
North American Newspaper Alliance

BONN—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has protested the re-emergence of Sir Oswald Mosley at the head of a reborn British fascist movement dedicated to the revival of Nazism in Germany.

Adenauer's note to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan expressed doubt that the British sufficiently appreciated Mosley's contribution to Anglo-German friction.

STIRS RESENTMENT
The chancellor blames Mosley for stirring up German Nazis and neo-Nazis, and for helping keep resentment against the Germans strong in Britain.

Mosley recently stepped out of postwar obscurity. He announced the revival of the "Fascist Union" which Mosley headed during the Hitler era. Mosley said he would lead Britain's Fascists back to the political wars in a forthcoming London suburb byelection.

"POISONING"
Adenauer doesn't lay all his discord with Britain at Mosley's feet, but the chancellor told Macmillan that Mosley's ganda minister Josef Goebbels, British occupation authorities nailed Naumann in 1954, accusing him of plotting a putsch. The British acted without notifying Adenauer and in a manner to imply that the chancellor was excessively tolerant of Germany's old Nazis.

FROM ABROAD

Adenauer charged that Germany's Nazis were being encouraged from abroad, principally from Belgium, Britain and even France.

Even before Mosley surfaced, Belgian authorities confirmed the chancellor's charges. They raided a castle outside Brussels and arrested two dozen persons, representing, according to the police, the leaders of a "European Fascist Rally."

Europeans Told 'Shut Up or Go'

ALGIERS (Reuters) — A French government representative warned Algeria's discontented Europeans to "shut up or go" Wednesday as the territory celebrated the first anniversary of the revolt that swept President Charles de Gaulle to power.

The speech by French Delegate-General Paul Delouvrier was regarded here as amounting to an official "declaration of war" against de Gaulle's hard-core European opponents. It was seen as a sign that the president considers he had enough support for his Algerian policy from both Moslems and Europeans here to resist extremist pressure.

The extremist minority, "activists" who were in the vanguard of the army-settler takeover a year ago Wednesday, boycotted the holiday celebrations and observed a "day of warning."

Delouvrier told 50,000 persons at the rally not to become nervous because France's battle with Algerian Moslem nationalist rebels has been going on for 4½ years.

"Let the impatient, the incredulous, the dividers, shut up or go. They play the game of the adversary."

Play Holiday Safe

This is another article of public interest prepared for The Daily Colonist by the Victoria-Esquimalt Health Department.

Everyone is in a holiday mood for the annual Victoria

Day weekend. Everyone loves to fish, swim, sunbathe, or go camping. Let us not forget that these happy days are often marred by the tragedy of careless accidents. But by being accident-conscious we can avoid many serious forms of injury.

Safe driving is particularly important with heavy holiday traffic. Keep your eyes on the road and mind on your driving if you hope to get to that camping site at all. Wise travellers should think twice before risking their necks in a car which might not be in top shape.

WATCH WATER

During these warm months we see many Victorians taking to their camps, cottages, beaches and picnics. Be sure of your water and food when away from your own home. Because a cool, clear mountain stream looks good, it does not follow that it is safe. Water can be made safe by simply boiling it well. Food poisoning is particularly common in the summer. Hot foods should be kept hot and cold foods should be kept cold. Take care of children on outings as there are many types of berries, unripe fruit, and poisonous leaves.

Perhaps first on the list of holiday hazards should be surrounding waters and lakes. When fishing, boating, or swimming you are exposed to a hazard which killed seven persons in Victoria last year and three already in 1959. Every child should begin to swim and learn water safety at the same time. Careless play, unaccompanied swimming, use of unfamiliar waters, and swimming soon after eating are not wise. Swimming and boating are both fine recreation yet can add to our toll of accidents.

One last warning, do not overdo that early summer sunshine. If you are a blonde or redhead, expose yourself carefully to the sunshine and remember that you can get a fair burn even if the sun is behind light clouds. Avoid over-exertion in great heat, because this can lead to heat prostration or sunstroke.

With all these hazards about it is a wonder that one can enjoy a holiday.

Second Girl Attacked By Dog

Two stitches were required to close wounds on the face of three-year-old Paula Wood, 562 Dupplin Road, who was knocked down and bitten by a neighbor's dog at 7 p.m. yesterday.

The girl's father, H. E. Wood, said he wasn't home when a light brown cocker spaniel knocked his daughter to the ground and bit her.

Another daughter, Heather, 10, was attacked by the same dog "about a week ago," he said. "I think it tried to bite her, but it only scratched her face."

The three-year-old was rushed by Saanich police to St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was treated for wounds on her right cheek bone and near her mouth.

Police later said the owner told them he would get rid of the dog.

Sun Too Hot For Paraders

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Several children fainted or were taken ill Wednesday and the annual May parade was held up for more than 30 minutes as hills and heat combined to mar New Westminster's biggest yearly celebration.

Police said a crowd of more than 30,000 jammed the parade route and Queen's Park to see the two-mile-long parade. It was the hottest day of the year, with temperatures in the low 80s.

At one point, the parade was halted while some of the toddlers taking part were given a chance to rest.

First-aid teams were kept busy attending those who had become ill from the hot sun. Some older children abandoned music instruments and sought refuge at the side of the parade route.

Once inside Queen's Park, more than 3,000 school children took part in Maypole dancing of a type that has been carried on here for decades.

Among those looking on was Mrs. F. H. De Grey, who was May queen here 70 years ago.

The parade had been postponed twice previously because of rain-soaked park grounds. The celebration in-

Harewood Sewer Vote Friday

NANAIMO—Ballots will be cast in Harewood fire-hall between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Friday to determine whether ratepayers favor the improvement district's $300,000 sewer referendum. About 1,500 are eligible to vote.

If they do, work will commence early next year on laying trunk and lateral lines in the central portion of the community.

Nanaimo ratepayers last February voted in favor of a $250,000 system for the city. Work commenced recently on the first outfall.

If the Harewood bylaw passes, building of the new system to serve about 50 per cent of homes and firms in the area will mean a three mill tax increase.

First metal street sign to be erected in the downtown area of Duncan is this one at Craig and Station Streets. "We hope to save money by using them," said Coun. John Kerron. Council has been plagued with wooden signs being scarred or torn down by vandals. (Thompson photo)

Jaycees from Whole Island Will Rally in Victoria

Final 'Lanc' Leaves Comox

COMOX — The last of the RCAF's operational Lancasters left here yesterday en route to Halifax and retirement from active air force service.

The RX219 will be used in air-sea rescue work. It was the last Lancaster bomber used in an operational role by the RCAF.

Final Vancouver Island district meeting of the Junior Chambers of Commerce for this year will be held in Victoria this weekend.

More than 30 delegates from Duncan, Nanaimo, the Alberni, Campbell River and Courtenay and possibly, Powell River, on the mainland are scheduled to attend.

Annual election of Vancouver Island Jaycee officers and Island finals of the "effective speaking" competition will be held. Winner will go on to B.C. finals at Nelson later and possibly western finals in Edmonton and national finals in Hamilton. Main session will start at the Monterey Restaurant at 12 noon, Sunday. A social program Saturday evening will precede the Sunday meeting.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

When It Rains at Tofino It Really Pours Down

TOFINO—When it rains in this part of the world it really comes down, but the area got a soaking April that impressed even this wetfoot district.

For example from April 25 to April 30 inclusive a total of 13.18 inches of rainfall was recorded at Herbert Arm, 20 miles from here. For the 24-hour period, from 7.30 a.m., April 29 to same hour, April 30, the fall was 6.03 inches. An all-time 12-hour record may have been set during the period. From 7.30 p.m., April 28 to 7.30 a.m., April 29 the rainfall was 4.40 inches.

Whale Burial Mighty Chore

TOFINO — Two University of British Columbia zoologists are working on the mighty task of burying a whale that washed up dead at Long Beach, near here.

The job is complicated by the fact they want to save the skeleton so it can be transported to the zoological department at UBC for reassembly and identification.

So they are cutting the blubber and flesh off in chunks and burying them. They hope by end of summer, weather and scavengers will have cleaned the carcass to the point where the huge skeleton can be moved.

Working on the whale disposal project are Dr. Joseph Witt, of the zoological department and a student assistant.

Logging Death Inquest Scheduled for Today

Inquest into the logging death of Fred Charles Hayton, 778 Hockley, will be held at 10 a.m. today at Sands funeral home on Quadra Street.

The Langford truck driver was found beside his truck Monday on a Sooke logging road, crushed to death beneath a three-foot-thick log.

Funeral services for Mr. Hayton will be held at 9.30 a.m. Friday from Sands funeral home at Colwood. Rev. J. F. Page officiating. Burial will be in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Water Main Replacement Saanich Budget Boosted

Plans for the replacement of water mains through scattered districts of Saanich were announced yesterday by Neville Life, municipal engineer.

The budget for the work has been increased almost $20,000 over the 1958 budget, to $145,000. Existing two-inch mains will be replaced with new six-inch mains.

Houses affected are on Borden, Charman, Kingsley, Parker, Quadra, Rogers, Regina, Service, Tuxedo, Ernest, Kay, Hurst, Burnside, Mortimer, Glen, Glasgow, Reynolds and Patricia Bay Highway.

Arena Parking Awaits Study

Possibility of the Memorial Arena Commission developing and operating parking lots on the north side of the curling rink and the corner of Caledonia and Quadra still awaits formal study, city manager C. C. Wyatt said yesterday.

City engineer James Garnett is working on a report on parking as well as other aspects of the arena plan, and Mr. Wyatt said the commission would want to consider the report before making a decision.

999 Want Children

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government has placed newspaper advertisements for the adoption of 20 homeless children and the province is "pleased with the response," the director of child welfare said Wednesday.

Although only one of the 20

Want Ads Get Results

has been placed so far, director W. H. Bury said the advertisements have brought a total of 999 inquiries from parents in Canada and the United States and "there is a good chance the rest will be placed within the next few months."

Ontario began the newspaper campaign April 24 to find homes for many provincial wards, most of whom are handicapped in finding foster homes because of age, physical condition, creed, color or mixed racial origins.

Of the 999 inquiries, 111 were from Canadian parents in reply to one or other of the 20 advertisements. The remaining 888 inquiries were from parents in the United States or elsewhere.

In Vancouver, two child care agencies said they do not favor newspaper campaigns for adoption.

Mrs. Charlotte Cornwall, director of case work for the Vancouver Children's Aid Society said: "We don't believe in it. It's almost like advertising a commodity. We think children in our care would feel they're up for sale."

School to Bear Pioneer's Name

Junior high school to be built adjacent to the Belmont Junior-Senior High School on Jacklin Road will be named for Elizabeth Fisher, the area's pioneer teacher, Sooke district 62 school board announced yesterday.

She started teaching in the old Metchosin School in March, 1872. Her salary was $50 a month.

Also approved by the board and the department of education was a $68,289 bid for an addition to Sooke elementary school from E. J. Hunter and Sons, Victoria.

Construction of an activity room, covered play area and administration unit is to start immediately. It is scheduled to be completed in time for school opening in September.

Strike Would 'Kill' Royal Tour on TV

TORONTO (UPI) — A threatened strike of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation technicians could interfere with the CBC's coverage of the 1959 Royal tour.

Tim O'Sullivan, Canadian director of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, said without its technicians the CBC could provide only "minimal service such as movies and the news. But it could not provide on-the-spot coverage such as the Royal tour."

It was built on assignment for Elwood Haynes, a gasoline salesman.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

TORONTO, May 14th—You'll hear a chorus of praise when you serve a 2-layer cake, frosted and filled with a new variation of ROYAL INSTANT STRAWBERRY PUDDING! You can make scores of delightful creations when you always have the seven different Royal Instant Pudding flavors on your cupboard shelves. Do try this new layer cake frosting and filling taste-treat surprise. . . . Prepare the Royal Instant Strawberry Pudding as usual, but use one cup of heavy cream in place of one cup of milk. Then frost and fill your 2-layer cake. . . . Yu-mmm! Or use to fill Mary Anne and cream puffs. Delicious!

THE BIGGEST AND BEST INVESTMENT that most of us make is when we buy a home. That's why we always give our home a careful "once-over" about this time of every year. Neglect would mean a loss in the value of our most important asset. And there's no need to hold up repairs or improvements for lack of ready cash. Home Improvement Loans are available at the BANK OF MONTREAL at only 6% interest per annum, and you can repay in easy monthly installments. Why not discuss an HIL with your B of M manager today? You can get an HIL for all kinds of worthwhile purposes.

YOUR PARTY BOOK. Let me send you, FREE, a copy of "Food Fun and Festivities", a delightful and useful book published by BORDEN'S EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk. Here are party ideas for children and adults. Many hints for a happy hostess too, divided into four age groups—for guests from 3 to 7; 8 to 11; for teenagers and grown-ups. . . . Also suggested table settings, favours and party games. And oh! A thrilling array of recipes for cookies, desserts, candies, ice creams, custards and novel treats. IT HAS EVERYTHING YOU COULD HOPE FOR in a salad dressing! For MIRACLE WHIP Salad Dressing combines a tangy, home-made flavor with satin-smooth texture—it's a small miracle, made only by Kraft. No one has ever been able to copy it successfully—that's why Miracle Whip salads are unique for flavor, for smoothness—for down-right goodness. You'll find it's delicious, for instance, on halves of peaches, or pears—blends with fruit delightfully. Wish you'd try it and see for yourself why those of us who enjoy Miracle Whip so much describe it as "something extra special"—in flavor and texture!

A GOOD COOK IS KNOWN BY THE MARGARINE she uses! Best way to get sure good-cooking results is to use BLUE BONNET MARGARINE, for everything. And I mean everything—cookies; muffins; cakes and pastries. I also prefer Blue Bonnet as a table spread; for sandwiches; and, of course, to melt in tempting goodness through your fresh vegetables. That satisfying goodness you sense when you use Blue Bonnet is because it is now, and always has been, prepared from the finest ingredients—pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added. I can't recommend Blue Bonnet too highly!

"I AM THANKFUL!" That heart-warming phrase recurs endlessly in letters from men and women who have found freedom from rheumatic, arthritic and sciatic pain through taking TEMPLETON'S TRC's. Here's one: "I am thankful to be free of the dull, wearisome pain which I had known for ten years. In TRC's I have finally found a medicine which gives me complete relief from my suffering." For many, many years these TRC's have helped to free men and women from long-endured agony. If you suffer yourself—or know of anyone who does—remember that TRC's bring sure relief.

Fish, Water Power Soviet Puzzle Too

Russia has not completely solved the problem of co-existence between spawning fish and water power, according to the head of a six-member Soviet delegation of hydro-electric experts who spent last night in Victoria.

The group, headed by A. N. Kusnetsov, chief of the 2,300,000-kilowatt Stalingrad power project, one of the largest in the world, is to visit two British Columbia Power Commission plants on Vancouver Island today.

SLOW TURBINES The delegation chief said through an interpreter that the fisheries problem was not so acute in the Soviet Union as it is in British Columbia, partly because many of the rivers do not carry spawning fish from the sea and partly because U.S.S.R. hydro plants are of an entirely different design from those used here.

Because of the absence of rock foundations for hydro dams in most of Russia, low-level structures are used and these use larger and slower-turning turbines than are required here. Fish pass through them unscathed.

But where the problem does exist, "it is not fully solved," said Mr. Kusnetsov.

He said Russian power systems employ higher line voltages than most Canadian transmission systems, but that the research battle to reduce line losses is as intense in the U.S.S.R. as it is here.

Beauty Queen Steals Narcotics

Crown to Cell—10 Months

LITTLETON, Colo. (UPI)—Beauty queen Dixie Ann Gottfried, 20, sat in a jail cell yesterday, only a few blocks from the scene of her happiest moment.

That moment was 10 months ago when 19-year-old Dixie Ann Dikes of Pueblo, Colo., a striking blonde, was crowned "Miss Colorado Jaycee of 1958." But her life since has taken a sad turn.

Dixie Ann confessed that she stole $131 and narcotics from a drugstore at the point of a .45-calibre pistol. She said it wasn't her first robbery.

Investigator Bill Maraggos said maybe she acquired the habit from the man she married after she won the beauty title. He is William D. Gottfried, now serving an armed robbery sentence at the Illinois Prison for the Criminally Insane.

But Dixie Ann wouldn't blame her husband. "Bill would just raise Cain if he knew about this," she said.

Dixie Ann was arrested Monday night in nearby Aurora, Colo., near the drugstore she admitted she held up. Although her once golden hair was black and stringy, she still appeared beautiful.

Early Monday, she said, she held up a mid-town Denver hotel but got only $17. "All I wanted was $50 for a room and some new clothes and a few dollars to get a new start," she said.

That night, she said, she picked up Leland C. Perry, 22, and asked him to drive her to the suburban Aurora drug store.

She ran from the store to the car, but Perry pulled the keys from the ignition lock and jumped away. She hid in an alley, but was arrested minutes later.

Youth Denies Bomb Work

VERNON (CP) — Nineteen-year-old Harry Bojey denied charges of bomb-making Wednesday, testifying instead that a fatal explosion last Aug. 13 came after an encounter with "three or four" men.

His testimony came near the end of his trial on charges of unlawful possession of explosives and of making a bomb.

Bojey testified in his own defence that he had consumed a few drinks and started off with Philip Perersoff, 20, for Summerland from Winfield.

ANOTHER CAR

Feeling ill on the way, he testified, he stopped the car and was sick. Another car with "three or four" men in it drew up and someone asked him: "What the hell are you doing here?"

Bojey said he then heard someone saying "Don't do that, don't do that."

After that he went "blind" and didn't remember anything until he found himself in a Kelowna hospital.

Bojey was found critically injured and Perersoff dead in a nearby gully three days after an explosion near Kelowna last Aug. 13.

DENY STORY

Bojey and his father both denied testimony by RCMP Const. H. E. Dzuba that Bojey was overheard to tell his father a bomb he was making was destined for the Okanagan Lake bridge at Kelowna.

Const. Dzuba, who said he is familiar with the Doukhobor language, testified Wednesday that he heard Bojey tell his father from a hospital bed: "We were making a bomb to blow up the bridge and something went wrong—that's all I remember."

Safe As A Church

OCONOMOWOC, Wis. (AP)—Milwaukee detective Milton Lang told a churchmen's group that Oconomowoc residents could feel secure because of a competent police force. Lang left to go home, but returned 10 minutes later. "Somebody stole my car battery," he explained.

'Crazy Gang' Ribs Queen

LONDON (AP) — Britain's popular "Crazy Gang" of slapstick comedians took the Queen to task Tuesday night for ending debutante presentations and the Queen roared with laughter.

The team has been a Royal Family favorite through three generations. This time, the Queen and Prince Philip paid a surprise visit to the gang's new vaudeville show, called Clown Jewels.

Dressed as debs, the five comedians sadly bemoaned the Queen's decision last year to end the presentation to her of daughters of bluebloods. They sang:

"Our mother said that we would be presented if we could ride in state along the Mall. Make our curtsies at Buck Pal. But we've not been presented. New rules were invented. Although we are plumed and scented, They've not presented—us."

"They are as young as ever," the Queen told impresario Jack Hilton of the gang, whose average age is 66. "Please convey our thanks for a wonderful show."

Prince Rupert 'Saviour' Dies at 92

Funeral services will be held for William James Alder, well-known Victoria resident and ex-commissioner of Prince Rupert, in Christ Church Cathedral Friday at 3.15 p.m.

He died Tuesday in his 93rd year.

Born in England, Mr. Alder came to Canada in 1885 and spent a number of years in the United States before going to Prince Rupert in 1909.

At the beginning of the 1912 depression, he moved with his family to Victoria and began a real estate business, which he operated for 20 years.

During the depression, of the 1930s the provincial government appointed him commissioner for the city of Prince Rupert which had been declared bankrupt. When he retired in 1940, the city was well back on its feet.

Mr. Alder was a member of Henderson Lodge No. 34, AF & AM, Scottish Rite and Rotary Club of Victoria.

Surviving are his daughter, Mrs. Fedora Brynolson of Seattle; two sons, George in Los Angeles and Harold of Victoria; two grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Canadians Pass Up Moon Shot

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will not participate in a British plan to launch an earth satellite in co-operation with the United States and some Commonwealth countries, it was learned yesterday.

An informant said that all of Canada's efforts in this connection will be devoted to supplying instruments for an American satellite scheduled for launching in California in 1961.

Britain announced Tuesday it plans to enter the space race with help from the United States and Commonwealth countries—among them probably Australia—and may attempt to put a 1,000-pound satellite in orbit with British rockets.

IV is a close second at 87 1/2, and House II, the defending champion, is only five points further back. At Oak Bay, House I leads with 57 points, followed by House I with 49 1/2 and Houses III and IV with 36 each.

ONE APEACE

One record fell at each school yesterday. A. Walters of House IV bettered the junior boys' pole vault mark at Vic High with a leap of 9' 4". Fruminto took the open vault for House IV with a mark of 9' 8", eight inches better than the existing record.

B.C. Racing Opens With Charity Day

British Columbia's 1959 horse racing season opens at Exhibition Park here Friday with at least 25 riders, including 10 apprentices, seeing action.

Net proceeds of the day, including concessions and the provincial government's rebate on the pari-mutuel tax, will be donated to the Community Chest building fund. The Pacific National Exhibition has waived track rental for the day.

Two-Hit Shutout by Brice Creates Four-Way Deadlock

George Brice, one of the many good youngsters who developed in Victoria's extensive minor league set-up, last night created a four-way tie for the Senior Amateur Baseball League lead when he pitched Wakeman-Trumble to a 2-0 win over Eagles at Royal Athletic Park.

Result left the league's four clubs with 1-1 records after four games of the young season.

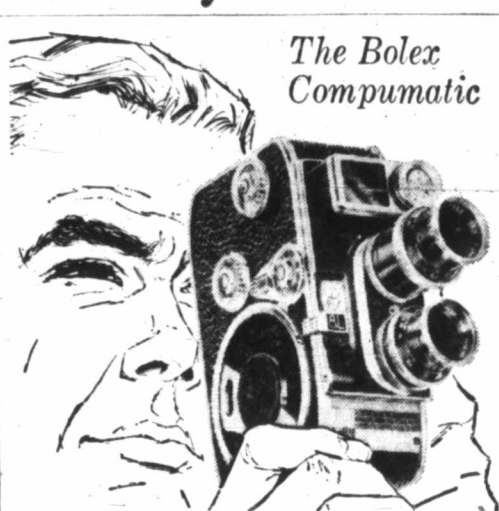

WHIFFS 14

Brice was in rare form as he held Eagles to two hits, a third-inning single by Larry McPherson and an eighth-inning single by Steve Bishop. Brice struck out 14, getting each of the starting Eagles at least once, and walked four. His teammates gave him fine support, erring only once.

Winners got eight hits, including a two-run homer by Doug Patterson in the sixth, off starting pitcher Robin Barnes and Bishop, who pitched a scoreless eighth inning.

Pages, upset, 6-1, by Navy Vets on Tuesday night, meet Eagles tonight starting at 7. Wakeman-Trumble 000 122 10-4 3-1; Robin Barnes, Steve Bishop (4), and Jim Moody; George Brice and Doug Patterson.

THE WORLD'S MOST ADVANCED MOVIE CAMERA

Guarantees accurate exposure every time. The Compumatic eliminates all guesswork in movie-taking. That's because it's the only electric eye camera that measures light through the taking lens... computes perfect exposure automatically. The Compumatic is very simple to operate; gives precise exposure through any lens—even when filters are used; offers seven different filming speeds; and is perfect for colour. Visit your dealer now and see the world's finest 8mm movie camera... the Bolex Compumatic.

Other famous Bolex 8mm models include the B-8, B-8VS, C-8SL, H-8, D-8L—each a precision-built instrument in the finest Bolex tradition.

The Compumatic measures the light from the exact area the lens sees. Ordinary eye cameras respond to all light in front of you, often causing underexposure.

Just pull this new wax bar across the lawn

WIPE OUT ALL BROADLEAF WEEDS

weedex

WONDER BAR

$4.98

treats 20,000 square feet

QUICK ACTING

As you pull the bar across your lawn, it leaves a thin film of wax-based 2-4D, the powerful broadleaf weed killer. It goes to work within minutes, cannot be washed off or blown away. In ten days to two weeks broadleaf weeds are gone, grass is unharmed.

EASY TO USE

Just tie on the string and begin! Can even be tied behind rotary mowers!

NO DANGER OF DRIFT

The bar can be used close to flowers and shrubs without danger of 2-4D drift, so long as the bar does not touch them.

Steels Take Wall Street To New High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market returned to the old-fashioned leadership of automobile and steel shares to lift industrial issues into new record high territory.

Chrysler ran up more than 2 points to a new high, Ford and General Motors gained a point or more and the others followed with fractional gains. Steels at their best showed gains running to 4 points with the top-ranking favorites — U.S. Steel and Bethlehem — prominent in the uptrend.

Chemicals enjoyed another day of soaring prices with Du Pont the leader. Railroad issues joined the recovery. Even the oil displayed a stronger tone. Some of the metals, communications, glass issues, stocks involved in road building, some electronics and drugs, and many special issues registered wide gains.

There were a few soft spots. American Telephone, one of the steepest, the industrial rise somewhat. Philadelphia and Reading fell nearly 5 points. Pfizer was soft in the drugs and Hoffman declined in the electronics.

Strength in the industrials helped lift other sections of the market.

Pipelines Gain

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials were the leaders as the stock market snapped a two-day losing streak in light trading.

Industrials were up almost 1½ points on index while western oils, ahead more than 1½, showed their first plus sign in nine sessions.

Among industrials, Trans-Canada and Trans Mountain each added ½ in pipelines. Ford A gained 1½ at 138½ and Ford Motor, the United States company, was up 1½ at 87½. General Motors added 1 at 49.

Western oils were quiet. Hudson's Bay added ¼ at 18 and Pacific Petroleum was up ¼ at 15½ for the best gains. Changes among the active lower priced oils were small.

Paper Stock Soars

VANCOUVER — Particular feature was an advance in Westminster Paper to a new high of $34½, up two points on the day. Trans Mountain also made a recovery high of $15.

Mines were mixed with Bethlehem improving to 182 and Cowichan dipping to 88 cents. Midwest Copper was higher at 26 cents.

Oils did little but Peace River Petroleum finished firm at 65 cents.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — The stock market maintained a firm tone under selective demand.

Gold-edged securities were steadied after their recent decline but dollar stocks were irregular. Industrial issues were firm. Bowater Paper Corporation advanced following its financial report.

Woodward Sales Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — An increase in sales and net profit were reported Tuesday by Woodward Stores (1947) Ltd. and its subsidiaries for the year ending Jan. 31.

Earnings from operations totalled $8,980,894, up from $8,539,199, while net profit advanced to $3,723,043 from $3,613,274. Working capital last Jan. 31 stood at $22,407,470 compared with $25,643,197 a year earlier.

Toronto Buys US. Buses

Can't Sell at Home; Can Industry Live?

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

How is Canada's manufacturing industry going to survive if it cannot sell in its own country?

The question is posed as a result of the decision of the Toronto Transport Commission to buy 50 buses built in the U.S. by General Motors in preference to buses built in Canadian factories by Canadian Car Company.

If the General Motors tender had been the lower one, the decision to buy foreign would have carried considerable weight, but in this case the Canadian tender was rejected despite the fact that each Canadian bus was going to cost $2,452 less than the U.S. one.

MORE ECONOMIC

The operations manager of the TTC said that he preferred the U.S. buses because they were of more modern design and would be more economical in use.

On the question of design, the manager is expressing a matter of view, but he is clearly going to have to justify a difference in capital cost of $102,600.

The U.S. contract will cost Toronto $1,602,900, against the $1,500,300 bid by Canadian Car.

MONEY GONE

Apart from the mere emotional regret that so fine an order should be lost to Canadian industry, there is the more important question of balance of trade.

The TTC is sending $1,602,900 out of the country where it will be lost and gone forever.

If Canadian Car's offer had been accepted, the $1,500,000 would not only have remained in the home economy but it would have turned itself over time and again in wages, sub-contracts, and as tax proven-

SECOND SLAP

This is a second "home base" slap in the face for the A. V. Roe Company. Earlier this year it lost the government order for the CF-105 jet fighter. Now through its Canadian Car subsidiary, it is taking another jab.

It is not to be thought that the case of A. V. Roe and its subsidiaries is unique. The struggle by Canadian firms generally to hold-let alone increase — markets at home and abroad has become more tense than at any period since the war.

During the past two days I have been attending the B.C. government's trade conference in Vancouver. It was this selfsame marketing problem that set a sombre overtone to practically every panel discussion.

WHERE NOW?

A few years ago the theme of a similar conference would have been "Nothing can stop B.C." This conference was one in which B.C. industrialists asked, "Where do we go from here?"

Courthouse Thefts Unsolved

The attorney-general's office said yesterday that the RCMP has given up further investigation of thefts totalling more than $8,000 from the registry office at the Vancouver courthouse about two years ago.

A spokesman said the case was being dropped for lack of clues to the disappearance of the money.

The money was recovered stolen funds which were being held at the courthouse in connection with theft and bank robbery cases. There were four separate thefts of bundles of cash from the registry office totalling $8,312.

Summer Officially Here —Pantomime Quiz Is Back

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—It doesn't really matter what the calendar says. Summer arrived officially Tuesday. I saw a Good Humor man and Pantomime Quiz on the same day.

Pantomime Quiz is, of course, the Bermuda shorts show of television. It is un-mothballed as the hot weather months approach and is tucked away again when the first TV vice-president lets loose the first sneeze of September.

Tuesday, Pantomime Quiz, jockeyed for its 12th season by Mike Stokely, returned on ABC-TV as a five-week daytime offering. Its format—based on charades or "the game" as it is called by the complicated people—has undergone a slight change. Now, customers from the audience play along with the usual celebrity contestants.

It's a piquant idea—throwing pros like Howie Morris, Dick van Dyke, Jeff Donnell and Cliff Norton in with Mrs. Emma Glutz of Brooklyn—but I'm not quite convinced that it'll work very well.

For one thing, Tuesday's group of amateurs were not too skilled either as performers or guessers. For another thing, Pantomime Quiz was a provocative show because its celebrity panelists loosened up a little. They were trapped in pressure situations and tended to unbutton their masks on occasion. It's always interesting to glimpse the face behind a carefully-built celebrity mask.

DOROTHY HART
... take away Mrs. Glutz

For a third thing, the mixture of pros and amateurs tended to slow down the show. It had a stop-and-go quality. One of the principal attractions of Pantomime Quiz in past seasons has been its frantic pace—its half-hour flipped by with the speed of a good fight.

And lastly, I'm not sure I want to look at Mrs. Emma Glutz of Brooklyn anyway. My favorite panelist in the past on Pantomime Quiz has always been Dorothy Hart, a lovely morsel who used to swivel through her charade assignments on the show with the motion of a happy honeybee. Miss Hart is not a member of the current panel.

Take away Mrs. Glutz, Pantomime Quiz, and bring back Dorothy Hart. And I'll forgive everything.

Black Ball Names Traffic Manager

Appointment of Folger Peabody of Seattle as traffic manager for Black Ball Ferries Ltd. was announced yesterday by the company's president, Lt.-Col. George Paulin.

Mr. Peabody will make his headquarters and home in Vancouver when he takes up his new appointment on Friday.

Carefree Swan Unfit Mother; Egg Removed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stanley Park zoo officials have had to remove an egg to a private pond for hatching because of a mother swan's delinquency.

"It's too bad, but it's just been hit-and-miss in the whole domestic business this year for this one swan," said curator Alan Best.

"She frittered away her day in play."

The male was enthusiastic about nest-building and the female eventually laid an egg but then refused to sit on it," Mr. Best said. The egg has been slipped in with eggs of another pair in West Vancouver and are expected to hatch in about a month.

Royal Commission Named To Probe Rail Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday announced establishment of a royal commission to study railway transportation problems and rates.

He informed the Commons that the commission will study the problems of railway transportation in all parts of the country.

One of the main aims would be the alleviation of inequities in the freight rate structure. Hon. Charles P. McTaggart, prominent Toronto lawyer, will be chairman.

U.S. Ban on Travel Ends for Bulgaria

WASHINGTON, (Reuters)—The United States Tuesday lifted restrictions on travel by Americans to Communist Bulgaria, the latest step taken by the U.S. toward restoring normal relations with Bulgaria.

Other commissioners: Herbert Anscomb, Victoria; Archibald H. Balch, Ottawa; Rene Gobeil, Quebec; M. A. MacPherson, Sr., Regina; Howard Mann, Moncton, N.B.; Arnold Platt, Lethbridge, Alta.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the commission has wide enough powers to handle both the long-range and immediate rail problems. But he promised that the Crow's Nest Pass rates on the movement of western grain would not be touched.

The commission, besides making recommendations on freight rates, will also study the obligations placed on the railways by the public need and how these can be most equitably distributed.

Just Like 'Bargain' Chicken

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In my meanderings around town, I see a lot of backyard plum trees which obviously have never been pruned. These neglected trees are a tangled mass of thin, brittle, wood and although the total crop may be heavy, the individual fruits are small, with far too much wastage in skin and stone in proportion to the weight—just like a "bargain" chicken for Sunday dinner, all bone and no flesh.

Pruning and feeding can correct this condition and this is the best time of the year to prune a plum tree. Winter pruning is "out" for plums as there is considerable danger of infection then from the spores of the Silver Leaf disease, which enter through open wounds.

By doing your plum pruning just after the flowering period, the cuts will exude a natural gum which seals off the wounds and provides a natural barrier to the fungus spores of Silver Leaf.

It is easier, too, with the tree in full leaf, to see just what parts are overcrowded. You can spot just what branches are likely to become overloaded with fruit and break at the crotch and take steps to prevent this disaster.

As most plum trees are grown on a four to six-foot trunk, you'll need either a stepladder or one of those long-arm pruners and a sharp pair of secateurs. A pruning saw is handy, too, but should be used sparingly as large cut surfaces should be avoided wherever possible.

With most plum varieties, it is best to leave the branch tips unpruned, but sometimes you run into droopy specimens with almost a weeping willow habit of growth. This isn't good, for the upper parts of the tree take all the food and light and the dangling portions lose all their vigor if the weeping habit isn't corrected. The trick is to shorten such branches, making each cut just above a bud which is pointing upward.

Next, all crossing, rubbing or overcrowded shoots must be removed entirely, taking them off flush with the parent branch. The aim is to space out all growth enough to allow air and light to enter into the centre of the tree.

After a preliminary going-over in this way, it is a good idea to get down off the stepladder and take a walk around the tree, looking it over from all angles. In this way, you can usually notice a lot of shoots which, if allowed to grow unchecked, would destroy the shapeliness and symmetry of the tree.

Shoots growing upright are usually too vigorous to be fruitful. These can be cut right out, again making the cut flush at the point of origin, or they may be shortened to just above a shoot which is growing sideways. This will encourage horizontal growth, which is always the most fruitful.

Branches which set too much fruit for their strength should be shortened by about half their length. It takes a lot of will power to sacrifice all that potential fruit, but the plums on the remaining part of the branch will be plumper and meatier and you'll avoid the really serious damage which occurs when a branch tears away from the tree through the sheer weight of the crop.

Hollywood Today By Sheila Graham

Bogeymen Scare Boris!

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Boris Karloff has returned to live permanently in his native England after 50 years in the United States. He'll star on stage and screen, but no more bogeyman stuff, says Boris—it scares him!

Ava Gardner's long-time beau, Walter Chiari, can't wait for Anita Ekberg to return to Rome. Ah, me! I remember when Anita and estranged husband Anthony Steel told me, "Never believe any story that we are divorcing."

Change your partners and on with the dance! Brigitte Bardot's ex-fiance, guitar-playing Sacha Distel, is now twanging love songs to 22-year-old, blonde Nicole Berger. "This said that Brig will soon be welded to new flame Jacques Charrier."

Lonesome George Gobel reaches Jack Benny's age in a week. George and Jack will alternate on CBS Sunday night's next fall, "and the first thing I plan to ask Jack is how to say 39."

Hugh O'Brien took in $25,000 on opening day in Winnipeg with the Shrine circus and expects $100,000 for the week. Hugh gets half the gross.

Inger Stevens, through with the blues, is buying a house in Beverly Hills and will settle in California, after her tour to promote her movie with Harry Belafonte and Mel Ferrer, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil."

Gypsy Rose Lee and sister June Haver will play spinsters in the musical version of Franklyn Lacey's play "Pagan" on Broadway next fall. Lacey's book "Early Haver," a fantastic tale of her youth, has the major studios bidding. As for Gypsy, I hear wonderful reports of the musical based on her autobiography.

What happened to the Oscars? David Niven is in his entrance hall with a tiny, concealed spotlight on it.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FRYE

Intercollegiate Hand No. 13

With the ace of clubs, dummy, and the ace of hearts, West comes back to his hand with a second club. After taking West's last trump, North remains with the North's own bidding can easily spoil his chance to earn the par on this deal: "Make game with an extra trick if opportunity arises." If the bidding goes as shown in the diagram, East's heart opening is fairly normal. But North's correct rebid is two hearts, not two spades, and once the hearts are mentioned, East may well open a trump and kill the chance for the over-trick.

Against a heart opening, the easy and safe play is to discard a club from dummy, a heart king and good trumps to make five odd.

If East opens the diamond, declarer follows a similar plan to make five odd, ruffing two hearts in dummy, and discarding two other losers on the top diamonds.

For home rubber bridge players, this making of an extra trick will have little significance; only for duplicate players might it seem worthy of par importance. However, this is not one of our favorites among this year's intercollegiate selections.

Magnani Meets Monroe

Just about the only award that Italy's Anna Magnani couldn't win at the annual Italian film festival was "best foreign actress." But she brought the prize to New York yesterday and presented it to Marilyn Monroe for her role in "Some Like It Hot."—(AP Photofax.)

Duke's Father Peculiar

Sparrows for Dinner

LONDON (UPI)—The flamboyant Duke of Bedford said in his autobiography published yesterday that his father used to provide toaststools, sparrows and deer's ears for family dinner when they were living in a cold-water boarding house in London.

His book, "The Silver-Plated Spoon," said his grandfather, the millionaire 11th Duke of Bedford, lived like a hermit although he had an annual income of $560,000 and kept 60 servants.

His father left home to keep his family in boarding houses where he collected birds and spiders in the dining room, the duke said. Later he told how his father came to be denounced as a pro-Nazi.

The duke himself was not sent to Oxford or Cambridge or any college. He was given only $275 a year to live on.

The duke married, but his wife died. He remarried and went to South Africa, where he raised fruit. Meanwhile his father, the 12th duke, attempted to negotiate a peace treaty with Adolf Hitler and was called a pro-Nazi.

"My father got crankier and crankier," writes the duke.

When his father died the present duke received his title. But his father and grandfather had written their wills so that he got little else.

The duke angered his father's estate trustees by opening his castle to visitors on a paying basis.

Equipping the estate with audiot raffles, a zoo, espresso coffee bars and juke boxes, the Duke of Bedford last year entertained about 500,000 awed commoners—at 35 cents a head.

"I have been accused of being undignified. That is quite true, I am. If you take your dignity to a pawnbroker he won't give you much for it."

Oscar Winner Returning After 11-Year Movie Lull

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—After an 11-year absence from movies, Academy Award winner Jimmy Dunn is coming back to films.

But don't get the impression Jimmy has been among the unemployed all these years. You should be as "unemployed."

He's done quite well on TV, especially with residual payments from reruns of a series he made, "It's a Great Life."

"This TV is wonderful," Jimmy said. "I get those residuals from the series and that's like being paid to get an annuity."

He hasn't purposely shied away from films all these years, explaining, "I guess they didn't want me, that's all."

"There were a couple of pictures I could have done, but I didn't want to," he added.

Jimmy earned an Oscar as best supporting actor of 1945 for his performance in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

ONE ROLE

For the next three years he had only one film role. Then his movie career came to a halt until recently.

Did his Academy Award jinx him? Jimmy doesn't know for sure, but he says it's happened to others who won the coveted bauble.

"After being in only one picture between 1945 and 1948 my wife took the Oscar down from the mantelpiece and hid it," he said.

"And I haven't stopped working since," he said. "I really don't know where it is."

"As a matter of fact, I think she put the thing away because she didn't want to polish it," he laughed.

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters). — The Kikuyu secret tribal society Kiama Muingi (Assembly of the People) has been disclosed as "undoubtedly a resurgence of Mau Mau," government minister Norman Harris said yesterday.

Harris said that "killing oaths" similar to those used by the anti-white Mau Mau society had been administered and there was evidence that members of the Kiama Kai Muingi were collecting rat poison.

He said that the double killing oath — "may it kill me if I don't kill someone" — was quite prevalent.

The KKM was outlawed in January, 1958. Harris said that in the year up to the end of last month there had been 2,520 arrests in connection with KKM activity. Ninety-four per cent of those arrested were former Mau Mau members.

No Work Yet On Steel Mill

Laborers should be discouraged from flocking to Kimberley, B.C., in hopes of finding jobs in the construction of a steel mill.

There is "little likelihood" an actual start will be made on the project within the next four or five months, James H. Fox, manager of the Victoria office of the National Employment Service, said yesterday.

Staff of all NES offices have been instructed to use every effort to discourage workers from proceeding to the Kimberley area, where there is no work available, he said.

The NES office at Cranbrook, which administers the Kimberley area, has been deluged with inquiries.

Subway Attack Causes Crash

NEW YORK — A rush-hour subway train, halted when Lucille Lobiano, 43, pulled the emergency cord after a teenage youth tried to assault her, was rammed yesterday by another train, injuring 23 persons.

After the train stopped, conductor Irwin Dickstein went for the police while the woman and youth waited. He came back seconds before the crash and was injured critically. The youth escaped in the confusion.

VALLAURIS, France — Film star Kim Novak is the newest addition to the chosen few invited to Prince Aly Khan's luxurious "Chateau de l'Horizon." She moved in with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Novak, while friends busily denied a Khan-Novak romance.

VANCOUVER — Robert W. Service, the bard of the Yukon, left a net estate of $297,874, most of it cash in Canadian banks, to members of his family when he died last year in Monte Carlo.

NEW YORK — Playwright Dore Schary has accused the movie industry and television of "pussyfooting" in controversial areas, because of "reluctant" pressure groups.

PARIS — American jazzman Sydney Bechet, about 70, is near death in the city he called "Heaven with sidewalk cafes." He has cancer of the throat and abdomen.

Bulk Cargo Carriers Get Seaway Priority

By The Canadian Press

The federal government Wednesday made two moves to reduce the shipping tie-up in the Welland ship canal which has hampered the operation of the St. Lawrence Seaway for nearly two weeks.

In the House of Commons, Transport Minister Hees said a measure of priority is to be given to Canadian and American bulk cargo carriers.

CAN GO ON

At St. Catharines, Paul Ellis, superintendent of the northern division of the canal, said the foreign ships awaiting entry to the canal will be allowed to proceed although they may not be properly equipped for navigating the 27½-mile canal between Lakes Ontario and Erie.

Mr. Hees said it was decided to allow Canadian and United States ships carrying, or designed to carry, bulk cargo of such items as iron ore to go through the canal alternatively with other types of vessels. That means that every other passage through the canal will be a Canadian or American bulk cargo vessel.

20 STOPPED

Mr. Ellis said more than 20 foreign vessels tied up off Port Weller at the Lake Ontario entrance to the canal because of an earlier federal ruling on equipment would be allowed to complete their voyage but would not be able to get back into the seaway for a second trip unless fully equipped. Other foreign ships would be stopped at Toronto or Hamilton, Ont., and inspected for correct gear before being allowed to go on to the canal.

Candidate Urges

Bar Wenner-Gren
From Uranium

Wenner-Gren interests shouldn't be permitted to share in development of Canada's uranium resources, the Progressive Conservative candidate for Oak Bay provincial riding, James A. A. George said yesterday.

He was commenting on news that the provincial government is seeking to produce enriched uranium by hydro-electric power in the Peace River area in northern B.C.

The statement was made by Attorney-General Bonner, in his capacity as minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, in Vancouver Monday.

ADVANTAGEOUS

"While possession of such a plant would be advantageous to Canada," said Mr. George, the fact that only Wenner-Gren power interests in the Peace River area could supply enough hydro-electric power should not be overlooked.

Axel Wenner-Gren was the man, said Mr. George, "who aided and profited from the development of the Bofors anti-aircraft gun used with deadly effect on Canadian airmen over Europe in the Second World War."

VITAL INTEREST

"Yet representatives of the Social Credit government now advocate this man be permitted to share in development of uranium, a material of vital interest in any future war in which Canada may be involved."

"Why are they so eager to further the interests of Mr. Wenner-Gren? Since Premier Bennett has never explained the reason to the people of B.C., will Mr. Bonner now do so?"

Patient Tells of Arthritis Recovery

Like Three-Legged Stool

'Doctor, Physiotherapist
And Myself' He Says

Arthritis treatment is like a three-legged stool, A. J. Bulgin, 3919 St. Peters Road, said yesterday, and he should know—12 months ago he was crippled by the disease.

Now he shows virtually no signs that once he could hardly bear to move. He spends hours at a time working in Mrs. Bulgin's charming garden, drives his car, and climbs up and down steps with ease.

"I found the treatment like a three-legged stool with co-operation with my doctor, co-operation with my physiotherapist and co-operation with myself the three legs," he said.

"And you know what happens if you lose one of the legs on a three-legged stool—you flop." Mr. Bulgin didn't flop. And he also pays tribute to a fourth "leg," his wife, who helped keep his courage and his spirits high.

Always an active man, quick in his movements, he was hard hit by the disease. During the acute stage he spent months in bed.

His knees, particularly, were swollen and painful. Mrs. Bulgin arranged a support to keep the weight of his bedclothes off his knees.

After the acute stage Mr. Bulgin was weak, his muscles were flabby.

His doctor referred him to the Victoria branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, 841 Colinson, and Mrs. Margaret Peterson, the CARS physio-therapist, made the first of many visits to his home.

The exercises Mrs. Peterson prescribed for her patient were ridiculously simple things, like making circles with his thumb and forefinger on one hand; like tensing an arm and then relaxing it.

It took determination to keep on day after day, fighting the pain, making a fraction of an inch progress each day.

And when he was stronger Mr. Bulgin began to visit the CARS clinic. Volunteer drivers called for him and drove him there for advanced treatment.

Today, 12 months after the disease first struck, and at the age of 67, Mr. Bulgin is in better physical condition than many a man 10 years his junior.

He is still not completely recovered, but to a stranger he seems an active man.

This week is Arthritis Week, aimed at publicizing the work of CARS and its needs. Mr. Bulgin's story is one of many.

Do You Hate Rats? If Not, You Should, Says Biologist

It's natural to hate rats. So says Charles Guiguet, provincial museum biologist, who thinks the best rats are dead rats and none of them are good, whether they are plump rural rats purportedly trying to invade the city or refugee rats claimed to be trying to escape from the city to Saanich. Actually, Mr. Guiguet said yesterday, talk of one municipality causing another's rat troubles is "for the birds." Rats will live wherever food is available, he said—if they aren't killed. Saanich has blamed an increasing rat population on Victoria's rat-eradication program, and Victoria has claimed its rats are killed, not expelled, and that its inspectors are busy with invaders from Saanich and Oak Bay. But Mr. Guiguet said rats will thrive—and be a menace

—wherever food is abundant, and they'll eat almost anything. They are especially numerous along the seashore he said, in Victoria city as well as elsewhere, and "garbage dumps really breed them. I don't think there are any big garbage dumps around, but compost heaps always bring a lot, when people put scraps of food in them." A potential source of bubonic plague through the fleas they carry, rats have come down through man's history as an enemy, Mr. Guiguet said, and man has a natural antipathy to them. "I hate them," he said. "I don't like even handling them or skinning them."

Garden Wreckers Rip, Tear, Uproot

Sidney Vigilantes May Ride

Vigilantes may "ride" in Sidney if vandals continue to ruin the village's best flower gardens.

Angry residents have started talking about organizing a 24-hour watch, after three gardens were destroyed in three successive nights.

It started Sunday night, when the raider uprooted plants and tore off blossoms and left them strewn around the yard of B. L. Martin, of Third Street.

After the same thing happened Monday night at the B.C. Telephone Company's new exchange on Beacon Avenue, a village resident, A. W. Holland, told a neighbor he should build a fence to keep people out.

Wednesday morning, Mr. Holland approached the same neighbor and advised him not to bother with a fence because it wouldn't be worth the effort. During the night, someone had leaped over Mr. Holland's fence and destroyed his garden while leaving untouched the adjoining open garden.

The Sidney flower destruction is similar in pattern to recent vandalism in Campbell River and Nanaimo.

Deputy Magistrate Plan Under Study

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday the advisability and necessity of appointing a deputy police magistrate for Greater Victoria is under study by his department.

Magistrate William Ostler was recently appointed police magistrate but there have been suggestions that he needs an assistant.

Victoria Day Celebration

'Biggest and Best' Claim for Weekend

More Variety More Events More Entries

This year's Victoria Day weekend celebrations will be the biggest and best in the city's history.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow last night backed up his "biggest and best" claim with these impressive statistics.

1. More events are planned for the holiday weekend than ever before.

2. More variety in Monday's big parade with close to 125 entries making up the three-mile-long cavalcade.

3. More entries in the parade from up-island centres.

NEED GOOD WEATHER

"All we need now is good weather," said Ald. Edgelow, chairman of Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, which is co-ordinating events this weekend.

"We hope people will make this a real family weekend. The program includes something for every member of the family, and those who decide to take a trip outside of Greater Victoria will miss a treat in store for them this weekend."

CROWNING OF QUEEN

Official opening of the celebrations will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow on the steps of the legislative building and will be followed by crowning of the May Queen by Mayor Percy Scourrah.

It will be preceded by a parade with bands and drill teams, horses with riders in colorful western costumes, to preview Monday's grand parade.

ARRIVAL BY COPTER

Highlight of the Saturday program will be arrival of the May Queen and her Princesses by helicopter at Royal Athletic Park for the first half of a double-header arranged by Victoria and District Senior Amateur Baseball Association. The second game will be held in the evening.

The rest of the day's program includes a horse show at Victoria Riding Academy, bicycle races in Beacon Hill Park, soccer game in Macdonald Park and rock and roll dancing in Memorial Arena.

SPEEDBOAT RACES

Highlights of the Sunday program are speedboat races on Elk Lake, sponsored by Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association, and an afternoon band concert in Beacon Hill Park.

The big parade starts at 10 a.m. Monday, with afternoon events including a western horse show in Royal Athletic Park, the annual open horse show at Victoria Riding Academy, more soccer at Macdonald Park, and Victoria Motorcycle Club "scramble" races at the Old Colwood Race Course.

A Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society will give nightly performances of "Die Fledermaus" in the Royal Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALD. EDGELOW
... real family weekend

'I Didn't Do It'

—Edgelow

Not guilty, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said yesterday—neither he nor anyone else in Victoria decided to have May 24 on May 18.

Chairman of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, Ald. Edgelow went as far as to agree, partly, with the anonymous writer of a stinging letter.

The writer, overlooking the fact that the federal government decided Victoria Day should be the Monday before May 24, told the alderman he should have his head examined and said he must be a foreigner.

Ald. Edgelow didn't agree with that. But, he said, "I do think it should be the Monday of the nearest weekend to May 24."

Oak Bay Polling Battle Begins

Battle is joined for one of two seats now vacant on Oak Bay council and due to be filled by election June 6.

Contesting seat left vacant by the resignation of Coun. Ralph Mathews are insurance broker Norman Pittam, 37, 3570 Beach Drive, and business manager John A. de Bourcier, 52, 2761 Dufferin. Mr. Mathews resigned because of ill health after being on sick leave for some time.

UNSUCCESSFUL

Mr. de Bourcier, whose intention to contest the seat was announced last night, was an unsuccessful candidate in the Oak Bay municipal elections last December.

For Mr. Pittam, an executive member of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association, it is a first try at public office.

A resident of Oak Bay since 1942, Mr. de Bourcier served for seven years on Greater Victoria school board.

NO CANDIDATES

No candidates have come forward to contest the other seat left open. It became vacant when Coun. F. A. Robinson was disqualified on a property ownership technicality after serving part of his term.

He is seeking re-election on June 6 and appears likely to be returned without opposition.

New council candidate Pittam is a former RAF flight lieutenant in the Second World War and a one-time navigator with British Overseas Airways.

Similar Home Mishaps Injure Saanich Tots

Two Saanich tots, injured in similar home accidents yesterday afternoon, were treated for cuts at St. Joseph's Hospital emergency ward.

Tony Lamprecht, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Lamprecht, 5003 Prospect Lake Road, fell while playing and cut his hand on a piece of glass.

Dianne Matthews, 3½, of 949 Darwin, fell and struck her head on a glass jar. Both were rushed to hospital by Saanich police.

No Decision for Site

Bids Asked Next Week To Wreck Public Market

Specifications are complete and tenders will be called Monday or Tuesday for demolition of the public market and firehall building, city engineer James C. Garnett said yesterday.

Deadline for tenders probably will be around the end of the month, he said.

City council has talked in general terms — but without yet making a formal decision — of turning the site into a parking lot.

Beautiful Dogwood Adorns B.C.

British Columbia's provincial flower, the dogwood, is in bloom all over Vancouver Island and colorful roadside dogwood trees present scenes of grandeur to motorists everywhere. Here little Susan Brooke, 5, of 3180 Aldridge gets a thrill out of admiring

Delegation to Press For Ship Contracts

A group headed by Mayor Scourrah and representing a broad picture of business and industry in Victoria will go to Ottawa to seek more work for local shipyards.

It will ask the federal government to give local yards contracts for two freighters, a dredge, and a lighthouse tender, with an estimated total value of some $13,000,000.

Represented on the committee are the city, chamber of commerce, labor and the citizens generally.

Mayor Scourrah disclosed plans yesterday.

BOMBARDED

"We think it is desirable," the mayor said, "because other parts of the country have been bombed Ottawa with requests for shipbuilding and got it."

He said "the best ships in Canada" are built in local yards.

Yet, the mayor added, of the 13 ships at present building for the department of transport, the West Coast has an "unfair proportion" of two — one here at Yarrow's Ltd., and another at Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

NATIONAL INTEREST

"We are making a plea for a number of ships because we believe it is in the national interest — that's one of our arguments," he said.

"The national interest can not be forgotten, because if we are going to retain our ability to build ships, the yards must be kept in work in order to retain skilled workers."

Mayor Scourrah said man-hours taken in building a ship here are less than in eastern Canadian yards.

FREIGHT COSTLY

However, over-all costs are higher, and one reason, apart from wages, is that the freight alone on an average-size ship amounts to $250,000.

Plans call for the delegation to Ottawa to place its case before Prime Minister Diefenbaker in person, as well as Public Works Minister Howard Green, Transport Minister George Hees, and Defence Minister George Pearkes.

They are seeking transport department contracts for two freighters which will go to the West Indies under an aid agreement; a public works department contract for a new dredge to work the Fraser River; and another transport department contract for a replacement for the lighthouse tender, Estevan, based in Victoria.

Children Mised—Chisholm

Liar Parents World Threat

World survival is jeopardized because parents "without a blush" tell lies to their children, Dr. Brock Chisholm said here last night.

Addressing a mental health group, the former head of the world health organization said children's ability to think is often stifled at an early age by parents who misinform them.

Dr. Chisholm told an audience of 125 persons: "I hope none of you has in your home that ghastly symbol of the three little monkeys."

IT'S TERRIBLE

"It's a terrible thing to teach children that where there is evil it should not be seen or listened to or talked about."

"It's a terrible thing to teach children that where there is evil it should not be seen or listened to or talked about. "That is the attitude which has kept syphilis alive in the world for many years after it should have been wiped out."

He said the present generation is the first in history to hold veto power over the continued evolution of the human race. Consequently, he said, this generation will have to extend itself further than any other if the human race is to survive.

"Some people say it doesn't matter if parents tell lies to their children," said Dr. Chisholm. "Perhaps it doesn't if the children are morons."

The speaker hit out at "dual standards of honesty" which permit most people to tell lies to children without thought to the consequences.

"If people want to lie to children they should give birth to little morons or borrow some children," he said. "Intelligent children can't stand being lied to... and when they learn better they don't get rid of the lie."

"Mostly, it is just put aside and covered up, making a split in the child's personality, a flaw in the foundation of his life."

Dr. Chisholm said "one of the worst reasons" for believing something was because a person's parents held the same belief.

"Everything that matters in the survival of the human race is available to us if we just don't lean on the past, or look back."

Uranium By 1969 In B.C.?

British Columbia could start production of enriched uranium within the next 10 years to supply the British Commonwealth and Western Europe with nuclear power for industrial purposes, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said last night.

Mr. Bonner, speaking on the province's industrial development, during the annual meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board at the Empress Hotel, said that B.C. has all three requirements necessary for such a plant, physical security, abundance of hydro power and proximity to a uranium source. British Columbia and Labrador are the only two places in Canada where enriched uranium could be produced, he said, and "it is a probability that B.C. will be looked to for enriched uranium production within the next decade."

Asked whether he thought such a plan could become a reality, Mr. Bonner replied, "I say we can do it, and we should exhaust every effort to encourage that result."

Accommodation Scarce

'No Vacancy' Seen As Season Opens

Several motels hung out "no vacancy" signs and hotels reported brisk business yesterday as Victoria's "summer" tourist season got away to a flying start.

With the heavy influx of convention-goers and other visitors the 1959 inaugural run of Washington State Ferries Victoria-Port Angeles ferry brought in 61 cars, and took 32 out on the first round trip.

WSF agents here also reported brisk business on second of two daily round trips on this run.

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau staff said they phoned nine auto courts and four hotels before being able to secure accommodation for one tourist family.

Commissioner George I. Warren reported "many times greater" number of personal calls by tourists at the Publicity Bureau than any previous period this year.

Victorian Making Bid For Top Lions Club Post

A Victoria electrical contractor, Ernest H. Emery, is making a strong bid to become the first Vancouver Islander to head District 19 of Lions International at a 1,800-member convention in the Empress Hotel and seemed well on the way to victory yesterday.

His prime opponent in the race to head the Lions district which covers most of British Columbia, part of Washington and part of Idaho, is Gordon Smith of Bellingham.

Mr. Emery told the Colonist yesterday he and his supporters are counting on the full backing of B.C. delegates, plus strong support from the Washington contingent from the Olympic Peninsula. Outcome of the election will be known later today.

He is a charter member of the Victoria Lions Club and has an attendance record of never having missed a weekly meeting in 18 years.

A highlight of the convention will be presentation of a $4,500 donation to CARE through Swedish industrialist Per Stahl, third vice-president of Lions International.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 17 and has a very good figure. She's quite clothes-conscious and has excellent taste. For the past two years I've let her make her own selections and never found fault—until yesterday.

When she modelled a new skirt and sweater set I told her it looked common because it was too tight. She said I was "out of it" and "slightly square."

She reads your column religiously and thinks you're wonderful. A word from Ann Landers is worth 10,000 words from Mother. In your opinion, just how tight should a girl's sweater be? — "SQUARE" MOM.

Dear Mom: Tell your daughter a sweater should be tight enough so that she looks like a woman—but loose enough so that she looks like a lady.

Struck Me in Face

Dear Ann: Recently my in-laws celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. I was not asked to help with the party plans and it made me angry. My husband and I had numerous arguments about this and two days before the party he struck me in the face and disfigured my bridgework. Naturally, I was unable to attend the church services, reception or dinner.

To get even I persuaded my parents not to attend any of the functions. This was the best way I could think of, on short notice, to let them know "all was not well."

Since that day, my husband has been getting numerous phone calls from women. He sighs and giggles like a 16-year-old. I'm afraid people think we're separated because I didn't attend the festivities. How can I get this situation back on the track? Please outline, specifically, the steps I should take. —HELLKA.

1. Get your teeth fixed.

2. Apologize to your in-laws for behaving like a child when you weren't asked to help with the party plans.

3. Explain you couldn't attend the festivities because you were "indisposed." Omit the details out of loyalty to that juvenile delinquent you're married to—even though he doesn't deserve a break. (This could also save you another trip to the dentist.)

4. Ask your parents to call on the in-laws and smooth over the family rift.

5. Tell your husband if he wants to live under the same roof he must consent to a joint session with a clergyman or a marriage counselor. Talking the problem out with a professional may give you both some badly-needed insight. It could also help relieve his anxieties so he won't belt you in the teeth as an outlet for tension and frustration.

6. Grow up yourself and stop filling in your family on what goes on between you and your husband.

Crazy Over a Monkey

Dear Ann: My husband is in the Orient on business. He'll be home in six weeks. He's become attached to a rhesus monkey and wants to bring it home as a pet for the children.

It seemed like a good idea until I heard that animals from foreign countries sometimes carry disease. He wrote and assured me all incoming animals must pass customs and be accompanied by certificates showing they're in good health and that they have had inoculations.

The kids are excited because Daddy has enlisted their aid to get my permission. He writes he's crazy over the monkey but the final decision is up to me. HELP! PLEASE! —MAXINE.

Dear Maxine: I'm crazy about monkeys, too—but in a zoo. Their antics are amusing. But they are very difficult to train (like impossible). And one monkey can do more damage in a house than two cyclones. Better to leave the monkey in the Orient and send him peanuts.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Mrs. Laundry to Lead Symphony Committee

Mrs. A. J. T. Laundry was named president of the Victoria Symphony Society's women's committee at a recent annual meeting.

Assisting her this year will be Mrs. E. E. Pearlman, first vice-president; Mrs. R. Nickells, second vice-president; Mrs. E. Bishop, recording secretary; Mrs. W. G. Welbourn, corresponding secretary; Miss Irene Sparks, treasurer.

In the annual reports given, the sum of $5,000 was raised through committee efforts which included a garden party, the Antique Dealers' fair, a rummage sale, the premiere of "Madame Butterfly," the sponsorship of the Canadian Players and the Symphony Ball.

Forthcoming events planned by the symphony committee include the Wynne Shaw dance revue on June 22 with Mrs. W. H. Walker as convener and "Glamourama" a showing of Eaton's fall fashions and a tea to be held August 8 at Central Junior High with co-conveners Mrs. Laundry and Mrs. D. Roxburgh.

Tea and Art To Be Linked

The traditionally Victorian custom of taking tea while viewing art will be extended to the public at the Moss Street Art Gallery.

A remodelled tea room will be open every afternoon except Monday and Saturday from 3 to 4.30 p.m.

The Women's Committee has recently purchased a new carpet and 100 new chairs for the hall.

Current exhibition at the Gallery, closing May 24, is the ninth annual Vancouver Island Jury exhibition with approximately 60 paintings and two sculptures.

MAY HIGHLIGHT
Another May highlight is the initial showing of a copy by Bernard Dunstan of the well-known Winterhalter portrait of Queen Victoria which the president of the gallery board, Maj. H. C. Holmes, recently commissioned for presentation to the city.

Silk screen serigraphs by Sister Mary Corrita are included in the May exhibit as well as a one-man exhibition by Margaret Peterson, a former California painter now living on the Island.

POSTMAN MISSING!
After pounding the pavement all day, John's feet were on fire and driving him wild, until his friends told him how wonderful Buckley's WHITE RUB was for sore, tired, aching, burning feet. After the first application, John was back on the street with a smile on his face and two happy feet! Nothing aches you more than foot discomfort, so why suffer and grow old before your time, when joyous relief costs you only 50¢. Sold everywhere!

Salt Spring Party

"Galilee," the Salt Spring Island home of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shove, was the scene of a party last weekend. The occasion was the birthday of their daughter, Miss Nona Shove, Victoria. Other Victorians attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lewis and Miss Susan Lewis.

Giant Silver Fish

Reeling in a giant silver fish recently was a surprise for May bride-elect Joan Genge, for it contained many useful shower gifts from her friends. The novel gift container, in honor of the groom-elect, Jack James, a fishing enthusiast, was featured at a party in Miss Genge's honor, given by Mrs. R. E. James, Jr., and Mrs. S. E. Alexander. On arrival the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. M. Genge, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. F. James, were presented with corsages. Games were played and refreshments served to the guests, among them Mrs. C. Everston, Mrs. A. Parker, Mrs. P. Strompkins, Mrs. R. Roberts, Mrs. W. Hoskyn, Mrs. K. Linnham, Mrs. E. J. Burrows, Mrs. A. Pearson, Mrs. J. Bates, Mrs. J. Woolridge, Mrs. R. Grundison Sr., Mrs. R. Grundison Jr., and Miss Ann Genge.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

CLEAN-UP TIME — As the days grow warmer, the time is ripe to check up on your skin-cleansing methods. Hot air and sun increase the flow of oil and perspiration. Then make-up begins to clog.

Under those conditions, the skin can easily develop large pores, blackheads and irritations—unless it is treated to scrupulous cleansings. The only method that insures a spanking clean skin involves soap-and-water and cosmetic cleansers, used in combination. Always use a cleanser before washing or applying fresh make-up. Cleansers act as a solvent to flush make-up from the skin. What cleanser you use, however, is as vital as using one. For normal or dry skin, you want the emulsified type — oil-rich and possibly moisturized. Liquifying creams and lotions with extra deep action and anti-bacterial ingredients, are specific for oily or disturbed skin.

To get the most from a cleanser, let it set a moment between application and rinsing off. For the cleanest feeling you've ever had, follow up by washing with mentholated shaving soap and a shaving brush.

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application methods; treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, creases, etc. For your copy of "A Lovelier Complexion," write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover cost and handling.

For a Happy Marriage

Gaiety a 'Must'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Claudette Colbert formula for wedded bliss lists "gaiety" as the prime ingredient.

"A marriage with gaiety has more chance than one based on 200-degree passion," said the French-born actress, whose own marriage has set some sort of Hollywood record. She has been wed to Dr. Joel J. Pressman, a prominent Los Angeles physician, for 23 years and if the couple has ever squabbled, the results never made headlines.

Although, she confessed, there had been some disagreements.

"They're healthy," she said, in an interview. "How can two people possibly agree on everything? Show me the couple who says there's never been a quarrel, and one of 'em is lying."

"By gaiety, I mean being able to laugh with . . . and sometimes at . . . each other,"

she said. "I am not belittling the role of sex. But marriage based on that alone is going to have trouble."

"After all," she said, "a woman spends more of her life talking to a man than anything else."

Let Them Thumb-Suck Expert Tells Dentists

TORONTO (CP)—Pre-school children should be allowed to suck their thumbs, Dr. Bert Levin, an orthodontist, told the Ontario Dental Association Tuesday.

He said in most cases they grow out of it of their own accord, and little damage is done to secondary teeth if the child stops before the age of six.

What's Cooking!

By Louise Moore

What shall we have for dinner tonight?

It's a question asked time without number in spite of the great variety of fish, flesh and fowl for our choosing.

However, when prices are hitting all highs it is a problem but if you don't count the cost we suggest a tender juicy roast of beef with Yorkshire pudding, a combination served in England's loftiest castles and the lowliest inns.

The English really know how to cook it and usually follow the old method by cooking it at the higher temperature of about 450 for the first thirty minutes then at a moderate temperature until done. There is less shrinkage roasting meat at the lower temperature but whether the flavor is improved is a matter of opinion.

SUNDAY'S DINNER

If you choose a standing rib roast select a prime rib of a size to suit the family's needs. Place it in a shallow roasting pan on a rack, fat side up so that the fat drips down over the meat as it cooks and acts as a baster. Do not cover the pan, do not add water.

For a rib roast weighing up to 5 pounds allow 21 to 26 minutes per pound for rare, 26 to 30 for medium and 30 to 35 for a well-done roast. A 5 to 8 pound roast requires 17 to 22 minutes for rare, 22 to 26 for medium and 28 to 33 for well-done. The oven temperature should be 325.

If using a thermometer, insert through the outside fat into the centre of the thickest, meatiest part of the roast, making sure the bulb does not rest on bone, fat or gristle. For rare it should register 140°F, 160 for medium and 170 for well done.

When roast is done, place it on a heated platter and keep in warming oven while Yorkshire pudding is baking. Turn oven to 425°F.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING

Sift 1/2 cup pastry flour, 1/2 tsp. salt into a bowl and make a well in the centre. Measure out 1 cup milk and add enough of the milk to the flour to make a paste of the consistency of heavy cream.

W.A. to St. Michael's All Angels Church, Royal Oak, will hold the annual spring tea in the parish hall, West Saanich Road, on Wednesday, May 20, from 2.30 to 5 p.m.

Beat 2 eggs with rotary beater for 5 minutes. Remember, it is the beating that results in a high puffy, tender crisp Yorkshire pudding. Add remainder of milk and beat by hand with large spoon to incorporate air. When bubbles begin to form let mixture stand 40 minutes or more.

Pour into baking pan about 10 x 12 containing 1/4 inch piping hot fat from the beef roast. Bake until pudding is puffed up, crisp and browned or about 40 minutes. Serve in squares with a little of the natural beef juice from the pan poured over the top.

For the rest of the dinner, start with tomato juice, horseradish sauce with the beef, parsley potatoes, buttered asparagus, small glazed onions and a deep rhubarb pie for dessert.

More Meals Ready-Made

OTTAWA (CP)—If hubby suspects he is being served more ready-cooked dinners lately, he's right.

Canadians dined on 20,000,000 pounds of the ready-made meals last year—2,500,000 pounds more than in 1957.

The bureau of statistics also reports Canadians ate 5.2 pounds each of canned meat last year, up from 4.6 pounds each in the previous year.

On the other hand only 138 pounds of fresh meat a person was eaten in 1958 compared with 142 pounds in 1957.

But the bureau reports that sales of pie-filling powders and prepared pie-crust mixes declined.

The first medical journal in Canada was founded in Quebec in 1826 by Dr. F. X. Tessier, and survived until 1828.

My Last Words; By Adolf Hitler

Hitler tells what he really thought of his Fascist allies the Italians, in this sixth installment of his last summing-up, dictated to Martin Bormann in the Nazi leader's Berlin bunker in February, 1945.

Greatest Service Italy Could Do Would Be to Stay Out of the War

When I pass judgment, objectively and without emotion, on events, I must admit that my unshakable friendship for Italy and the Duce may well be held to be an error on my part.

It is in fact quite obvious that our Italian alliance has been of more service to our enemies than to ourselves.

Italian intervention has conferred benefits which are modest in the extreme in comparison with the numerous difficulties to which it has given rise.

If, in spite of all our efforts, we fail to win this war, the Italian alliance will have contributed to our defeat.

The greatest service which Italy could have rendered to us would have been to remain aloof from this conflict. To ensure her abstention, no sacrifices, no presents on our part would have been too great.

Had she steadfastly maintained her neutral role, we would have overwhelmed her with our favors. In victory we would have shared with her all the fruits and all the glory. We would have collaborated with al, our hearts in the creation of the historic myth of the supremacy of the Italian people, the legitimate sons of the ancient Romans. Indeed, anything would have been preferable to having them as comrades in arms on the field of battle!

DONKEY-KICK

Italy's intervention in June, 1940, with the sole purpose of aiming a donkey-kick at a French army that was already in process of disintegration, merely had the effect of tarnishing a victory which the vanquished were at the time prepared to accept in a sporting spirit.

FAIRLY DEFEATED

France recognized that she had been fairly defeated by the armies of the Reich, but she was unwilling to accept defeat at the hands of the Axis.

HINDERED POLICY

It was this alliance, for instance, which prevented us

Italy, 1938. The Duce himself is my equal, says Hitler. Perhaps even my superior, from the point of view of ambition. But ambition is not enough.

Facts alone count. And the fact is that his countrymen brought us nothing but contempt . . . and finally defeat.

from pursuing a revolutionary policy in North Africa.

In the nature of things, this territory was becoming an Italian preserve and it was as such that the Duce laid claim to it.

REPERCUSSIONS

Had we been on our own, we could have emancipated the Moslem countries dominated by France, and that would have had enormous repercussions in the Near East, dominated by Britain, and in Egypt. But with our fortunes linked to those of the Italians, the pursuit of such a policy, was not possible.

READY TO RISE

All Islam vibrated at the news of our victories. The Egyptians, the Iraqis and the whole of the Near East were all ready to rise in revolt. Just think what we could have done to help them, even to incite them, as would have been both our duty and in our own interest!

But the presence of the Italians at our side paralyzed us; it created a feeling of malaise among our Islamic friends, who inevitably saw in us accomplices, willing or unwilling, of their oppressors.

BITTER HATE

For the Italians in these parts of the world are more bitterly hated, of course, than either the British or the French. The memories of the barbarous reprisals taken against the Senussi are still vivid.

Then again, the ridiculous pretensions of the Duce to be regarded as the Sword of Islam evokes the same sneering chuckle now as it did before the war. This title, which is fitting for Mohammed and a great conqueror like Omar, Mussolini caused to be conferred on himself by a few wretched brutes whom he had either bribed or terrorized into doing so.

MISSING THE BUS

We had a great chance of pursuing a splendid policy with regard to Islam. But we missed the bus, as we missed is on several other occasions, thanks to our loyalty to the Italian alliance!

In this theatre of operations then, the Italians prevented us from playing our best card, the emancipation of the French subjects and the raising of the standard of revolt in the countries oppressed by the British. Such a policy would have aroused the enthusiasm of the whole of Islam. It is characteristic of the Moslem that what affects one, for good or for evil, affects all.

MORAL DISASTER

On the moral side, the effects of our policy were doubly disastrous. On the one hand we had wounded, with no advantage to ourselves, the self-esteem of the French. On the other hand this, of itself, compelled us to maintain the domination exercised by the French over their empire, for fear that the contagion might spread to Italian North Africa and that the latter might then also claim its independence.

And since all these territories are now occupied by the Anglo-Americans, I am more than justified in saying that this policy of ours was a disaster. Further, this futile policy has allowed these hypocrites, the British, to pose, if you please, as liberators in Syria, in Cyrenaica and in Tripolitania!

From the purely military point of view things have not been much better.

Tomorrow: Italy's entry into the war at once gave our enemies their first victories.

Smash-Grab Thief Gets Year in Jail

Stanley MacKenzie Dewar, no fixed address, who pleaded guilty last Friday to two charges of breaking, entering and theft, yesterday was sentenced to one year in jail.

He had admitted breaking a window May 4 at the Hudson's Bay Company store and stealing two sweaters valued at $60; and to breaking a window May 7 at Reliable Used Furniture Ltd., 541 Johnson, and stealing a radio valued at $13.50.

Arrested a short time after the second offence, he took police to a spot just across the Johnson Street bridge where he had hidden the radio. The sweaters he said he'd sold, but did not know the purchasers.

Alcohol was his problem, he told the court, and yesterday, after reading a probation report, Magistrate William Ostler agreed.

"You'll be going to jail, of course," he said before sentence. "Perhaps that way you can get the alcohol out of your system."

"When you get out you should seek the company of more responsible people," the magistrate concluded, adding that the alternative seemed to be a lifetime in jail or intoxicated—"a terrible future."

Richard Gordon Gray, 2914 Douglas, pleaded guilty to a charge of wilful damage amounting to about $170, and was remanded to today for sentence.

Court was told accused broke two windows in the McLennan, McFeely & Prior Ltd. store, 1400 Government, at about 1.35 a.m. yesterday.

Police said he gashed his arm severely, was picked up a few minutes later on Johnson Street and driven to hospital for treatment.

"I was taking a swing at a friend and missed, twice," police said Gray told them. Gray told the magistrate he was drunk at the time.

$769,310 Estate

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—An appraisal filed in probate court Monday valued the estate of the late John James Herb, 86, Bellingham industrialist, at $769,310.

Herb, who died March 1, was the founder of two paper mills, including Westminster Paper Co. Ltd. of New Westminster.

Stamp Theft Solved?

DUBLIN (UPI) — Nearly $200,000 worth of rare stamps stolen from a million-dollar collection Saturday have been found in an office filing cabinet.

Paul Singer, managing director of the Shanahan Stamp Auction Co., largest rare stamp dealers in the world, refused to say whether the stamps merely had been misplaced. Singer had placed the value of the missing collection at $1,200,000, and said the robbery probably was the biggest of its kind in history.

Shortly after the robbery was discovered, $14,400 worth was recovered from a dust bin on a Dublin dock.

Singer said between 10,000 and 20,000 stamps were taken. He emphasized that the collection had been widely publicized and "for that reason alone, the stamps are worthless to the thieves."

Singer believes the robbery was committed either by "teddy boys out on a lark" or was a "question of malice." But his employees were being fingerprinted.

Sir Charles Explains

West Africa: No Problem Over Race

VANCOUVER (CP) — West Africa has virtually no race problem, says Sir Charles Arden-Clarke.

Sir Charles is a former governor of the Gold Coast and first governor-general of independent Ghana.

Visiting Vancouver under the auspices of the Royal Commonwealth Society, he told a public meeting here that North and South Rhodesia and Nyasaland are in turmoil because there is a ruling white minority which feels it might be wiped out and an African majority which fears it might be imposed upon.

West Africa, on the other hand, he said, has no ruling white minority. The African, until recently governed by a white administration, came into complete control of the territory by peaceful agreement with the British.

Expert Hits Teaching

No Inspiration For Students

CALGARY (CP) — A well-known teacher and author Tuesday criticized modern education for failing to inspire students to know something just for the sake of knowing it.

Dr. Hilda Neatby, head of the history department at the University of Saskatchewan and author of the book "So Little for the Mind," said it was unfortunate that "equal education" has come to mean "identical education," meaning that it was almost impossible to develop an intellectual elite.

"We are told our schools don't exist for a minority, that it is harmful to develop an elite and that every child should have the same learning experience and opportunities. But if we must educate all, and in the same way, there is a danger that the whole process of learning may be corrupted."

Dr. Neatby called on schools to restore the values of an aristocratic education, the only source of true learning. She said teachers are selecting more and more the kind of learning that can be attached to immediate and practical ends.

$3,000,000 Fire Burns Secrets At Rolls Royce

MOUNTSOREL, England (UPI) — A $3,000,000 fire raged through the sprawling Rolls Royce plant here yesterday, destroying several top-secret projects.

Among the 1,000 employees, no injuries were reported.

Fire companies from all parts of Leicestershire fought the blaze, which started in the roof and spread rapidly. Long rows of prefabricated shops were destroyed before the fire was brought under control.

Worker Survives 75-Foot Tumble

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Johnson, 42-year-old construction worker, is in fair condition in hospital following a 75-foot fall down the centre of a neon sign.

He suffered back and internal injuries after tumbling from the top of a 100-foot-high neon sign under construction on Broadway.

Witnesses said he struck every supporting crosspiece of the sign as he fell. Firemen rescued him from a support 25 feet above the ground.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG
... 'sit still and listen'

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Today I want to tell you about some educated rats.

They went to the University of California and learned all there was to know about jumping up and down platforms, maze-running, crawling through burrows and playing with educational toys. Then they were tested by two psychologists, Dr. Krech and Dr. Rosenzweig, and one biochemist, Dr. Bennett.

The psychologists found that the rats did very well in all subjects and gave them straight A's. The chemist did something different. He measured the amount of cholinesterase in their brains and found that it had increased.

Now it's quite possible that Dr. Krech, Rosenzweig and Bennett have made a tremendous discovery there. If the process of learning adds a measurable chemical substance to your brain, then maybe the time has come for a complete revolution in the field of education. Maybe at long last we will know how to go about educating our children scientifically.

A Haphazard Affair

So far, of course, education always has been a haphazard affair. What our children get in school isn't based on scientific facts but on the say-so of the educational experts.

Basically, there are two schools of thought and therefore our children get a mish-mash of two kinds of education. The progressives insist they should be trained for "life-adjustment" and the traditionalists say they must learn the liberal arts.

The other day I sat in my living room and watched my two oldest children doing their homework. Both go to the same public school. My 13-year-old son, Hugo, hip-deep in life adjustment, was wrestling with an income tax problem in his arithmetic textbook. Right next to him, my 15-year-old daughter Anne was tackling the old, old story of Caesar and those characters Labienus and Vercingetorix.

Lift at Its Grimmest

Now nobody in the world can prove logically that it's good for a 13-year-old boy to learn how to do his income tax (do they have to be adjusted to life at its grimmest?) or that a 15-year-old girl ought to fight her way through the Gallic Wars.

Perhaps, if those California scientists are right about their chemical theory of education, we'll get rid of all that nonsense. We'll learn how to train our children so that the cholinesterase content of their brains goes up and up and up.

We'll get right back to Mr. Dooley's famous maxim. "Childher shudden't be sint to school to learn, but to learn how to learn. I don't care what ye learn thim so long as 'tis onpleasant to thim." Just give their brains a stiff workout—like those California rats' brains—and fill them up with cholinesterase.

Then, when they're grown up, they can happily forget all that nonsense they learned in school, and will be smart enough to tackle the problems of the 1960s and 70s.

Blind Man Saw Road With Mind

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—Trumpeter Louis Daniel (Satchmo) Armstrong blew into town Wednesday and offered to relax the East-West foreign ministers with his red hot music.

"I don't know nothin' about politics," he said, "but if I could get them cats to sit still and listen, well then, daddy, maybe I can relax them a little."

'JUST RELAX'
The sun was hot and he mopped his perspiring face. "Get them cats to relax, and daddy, they'll just relax this tension in the world."

A reporter asked Satchmo if he thought Poland and Czechoslovakia should be allowed to sit in at the foreign ministers' meeting—a thing the Russians want.

'LET 'EM SIT'
"If it makes them happy and makes us happy," smiled the New Orleans-born jazzman, "then let 'em sit."

He mopped his forehead again. Asked what he was doing in Geneva, Satchmo said: "Blowin', daddy. I'm blowin' two concerts tonight."

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP) — Jay Ellis of Ottawa, a blind piano tuner, and his wife, Gypsy, drove to Wichita on the Kansas Turnpike the other day. Leaving the turnpike, Mrs. Ellis drove around a curved ramp and straightened out on a highway.

"You took the wrong turn, Gypsy," Ellis warned. Nine miles later Mrs. Ellis conceded he was right.

How did he know? The sun was shining on his right arm and it shouldn't have been.

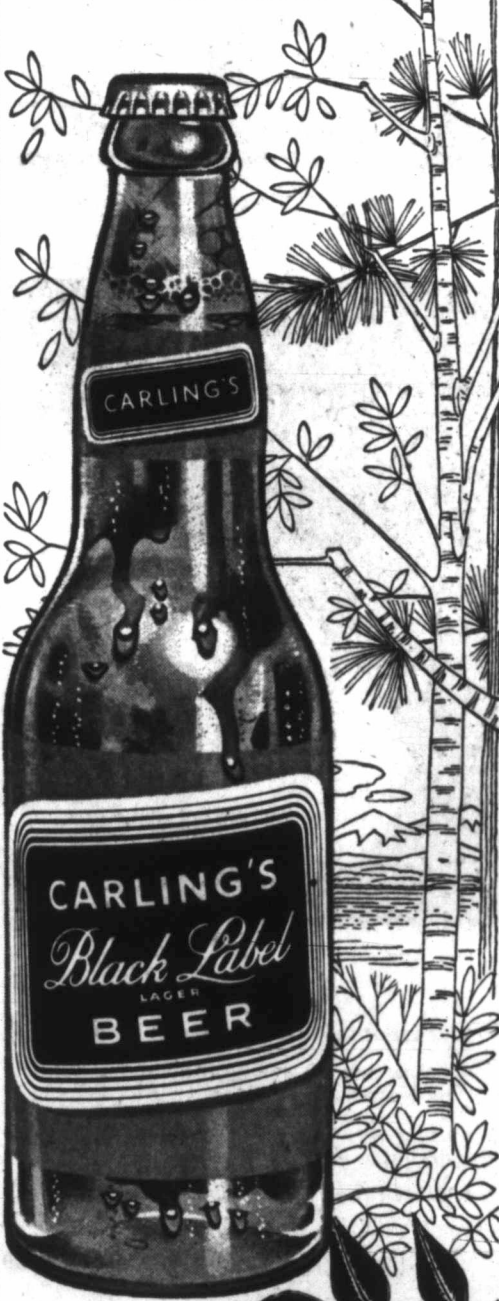

"If it had been a cloudy day," Ellis said, "we'd have been in real trouble."

West Forces Pace

GENEVA, May 13 (UPI)

The East-West foreign ministers conference set a postwar record yesterday by getting down to work without an agreed agenda after only two days of procedural wrangle.

The West forced the pace of the four-power parley by bypassing procedural differences with the Soviet Union and plunging over Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko's head into the substance of the conference.

Russia, significantly, gave in to the West's insistence on shelving the controversial issue of Polish and Czech representation at the conference.

PACKAGE PLAN
The West will today present the East-West foreign ministers' conference with a three-phase package plan combining a German settlement with big reductions in United States and Russian armed forces.

The Soviets probably will bring the procedural issue up at some later stage of the conference, but the fact remains they made no stand to force their demand for seating the Poles and Czechs.

Gromyko's acquiescence strongly indicated Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's desire to avoid an early clash with the West which could jeopardize his much-cherished trip to the summit.

GIVEN IN TWICE

The Soviets thus have given in on the two major procedural points which threatened the conference from the start: they bowed to the Western opposition against admission of the East Germans as full conference partners, and allowed the temporary shelving of Polish and Czech participation.

Most of the procedural squabble was resolved in backstage talks, instead of at the conference table in the limelight of world publicity.

But Gromyko was certain to chalk up "concessions" and use them to back demands for western counter-concessions on the more basic issues of the cold war.

City Greeted Lions In Oriental Splendor

Food Stall Once More In Market

Victoria's surplus food stall, distributing free food to the needy, will be held for the last time in the old market building on May 23. The food stall will shift to new quarters at the rear of the Elks Home at 732A Cormorant.

An "Oriental Night" extravaganza jamming Chinatown on Fisgard Street with crowds, Chinese pageantry and fireworks, welcomed 1,800 visiting Lions Club members to Victoria last night for start of a four-day convention.

Motif of the display staged by the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club in the traditional Chinese combination of color, pomp and pageantry, was a modern version of the mythological Wandering Mandarin's travels.

THOUSANDS WATCH

Seen by more than 3,000 in a barricaded block of Fisgard, the show got the 38th annual district 19 convention of the Lions International off to a fast start.

Today the Lions were due to settle down to the more muted roaring of general sessions at the Empress Hotel, marked by welcome addresses from Labor Minister Lyle Wicks for the province and Mayor Percy Scurrell for the city.

GOVERNOR IN CHAIR

The sessions will be called to order by Louis L. Valentine, Lions district 19-A governor. Attending the convention are delegates from the Pacific Northwest.

Top speaker is Per Stahl, third vice-president of Lions International and managing director of a Swedish industrial firm, who is flying to Victoria for the convention.

HOTELS FILL

Influx of the 1,800 visitors added a big bulge to growing numbers of tourists to the city and helped fill city hotels to capacity. Some hotels were reporting no more rooms available.

The Chinatown spectacle last night featured the Chinese Girls' Drill Team, the traditional dragon dance, a hula, an exotic Indian dance, and the 10-year-old artist of Lion Harvey Lowe.

At one point, the Sacred Sampan bearing the Mandarin and the Fairies to India, listed severely and was saved from capsizing only by the intervention of three "foreign devils" bearing news cameras.

Overseas Post For Pearkes?

Defence Minister George Pearkes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, is being considered for a post as Canadian ambassador in Belgium or Holland, The Daily Colonist learned last night. An alternative position, it was suggested, is an elevation to the senate.

Hockey Stars Got $57,000 from City

TORONTO (UPI)—The auditor who checks the books for the city of Belleville said Wednesday the city paid out nearly $57,000 in salaries to the world champion Belleville McFarlands hockey team over the past three years.

Bulletins

GENEVA — Foreign ministers of United States, Britain and Russia agreed to hold a private meeting today on the three-power negotiations for a nuclear test ban.

LIMA, Peru — A Peruvian airliner carrying eight persons, including Cornelius Sans, a Canadian geophysicist, is missing over a dense jungle area.

CHICAGO — Chicago's skyline was blurred Wednesday by dust from Canadian and Dakota dustbowl areas.

MARYSVILLE, Wash. — A spectacular fire rocketed 50 feet, destroyed the Reinel Boat Works and burned out telephone lines to this Snohomish county community.

Talk It Out—Mayor

Strike Threat Still Menacing

Possibility of a strike of Victoria city's outside workers appeared little diminished yesterday as the result of a 2½-hour meeting of union representatives and city manager C. C. Wyatt.

"There was nothing conclusive at all," Mr. Wyatt said afterward.

But, he said, he did make a point "of the fact that every step should be taken to prevent a strike because of the inconvenience to the public." And he said he thought it possible there would be another meeting.

Before the meeting, Mayor Percy Scurrell had said he hoped the Civic Employees' Protective Union, representing about 250 outside workers, would agree to arbitration, because there is going to be a compromise somewhere along the line, and why not talk it out instead of striking?

Union members voted Monday and Tuesday approximately 95 per cent in favor of striking if necessary to back up their demand for a bigger wage increase than the 7½ cents an hour city council has offered.

The union earlier had expressed willingness to accept the increase of 19 cents an hour recommended in the majority report of a conciliation board.

NO GREAT ALARM

City officials showed no great alarm over the prospect of an outside workers' strike, especially at this season.

A short-lived strike by the same union in 1954, ending in arbitration, produced little hardship for citizens.

The streets became unsightly in places for lack of cleaning, and some of the aldermen received threats that uncollected garbage would be dumped on their lawns.

Street-lighting and traffic signals are taken care of by members of another union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and lack of garbage collection probably would be the biggest problem in a strike.

"Inside" workers at city hall wouldn't collect it, either, an official of the inside workers' union said yesterday.

Firms Pay One-Tenth Theft Value

TORONTO (CP)—An insurance company in an "underworld" deal has bought back $1,409,787 worth of stolen bonds at 10 cents on the dollar, Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario said Wednesday.

He disclosed the behind-the-scenes deal as he flicked through the pages of another chapter in the history of the multi-million-dollar robbery of the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Company.

Police investigation has extended as far as Switzerland since a slick crew equipped with $600 worth of vault-breaking tools carried off loot totalling an estimated $10,000,000 the weekend of May 3-4, 1958.

All but $310,000 "has been accounted for or traced." However, $2,300,000 in bonds was still outstanding.

'Dealer in Death' Given 14 Years, $10,000 Fine

VANCOUVER (CP)—A convicted narcotics peddler, Steve Bohack, 40, described in court as "a dealer in death," was sentenced to a maximum 14 years and fined $10,000 by county court Judge J. A. McGeer Wednesday.

Radar-Clocked Speeders Fined

DUNCAN—Five motorists who were clocked on radar pleaded guilty to charges of speeding in court here yesterday and were fined $25 each. They were R. L. Kennedy, Cobble Hill; Gary Davidson, Nanaimo; Patricia Chaworth, Musters; Cobble Hill; Stanley Blackburn, Duncan, and Robert H. Grubb, Victoria. Norman Copley, Mill Bay, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of using a truck on the Trans-Canada Highway Saturday on which was a motor vehicle licence from another truck.

Mrs. Eunice Mills, above, peeled 24 poles for project as well as running power saw.

BCPC Municipalities To Get $224,447

B.C. Power Commission-served municipalities have been informed they will receive a total of $224,447, which represents 3 per cent of gross revenue assessments in lieu of taxes in the year ended March 31, 1959.

The payments are to be made before next September and represent an over-all increase of 10 per cent over last year's amount of $204,805. The amount covers payments in lieu of taxes on the Power Commission's distribution facilities within 48 organized areas of the province and are in addition to taxes paid on Commission lands and buildings. The assessment, under terms of the "Power Act," represents 3 per cent of the gross revenue within each of the municipalities.

Largest amount, $22,914, will go to Nanaimo. The Hub City received $22,523 last year. Other island communities receiving payment are:

Duncan Show Biggest Ever

A Duncan girl, S. Diane Robertson, placed third among first-year arts and science students at Victoria College in the 1959 examinations.

Other winners of first-class honors from up-island points, listed when the examination results were released yesterday, are:

Anthony J. Dare of Parksville and David G. Alexander of Nanaimo, both in second-year arts and science; and John Ivanisko, Mrs. Philemon Kershaw and Leonard J. Plater, all of Lake Cowichan and all in the evening division.

Winners of second-class honors—between 65 and 80 per cent—were:

In first-year arts and science: Georgia A. D. Maclean, Campbell River; Marguerite K. Rennie, Crofton; Robert L. Bickell, Cobble Hill; Beverley A. McRae, Alberni; Kathleen W. Harmer, Alberni; M. Diane Cooper, Port Alberni; Davis C. Neave, Nanaimo; Jacqueline G. Paulding, Duncan; Daryl R. Sturdy, Port Alice; Michael A. Bigg, Cobble Hill.

In second-year arts and science: P. Arnold White, Port Alberni; Olive H. Fairholm, Lake Cowichan.

In first-year commerce: L. Keith Hannett of Duncan and D. Marilyn Ardley of Lake Cowichan.

DUNCAN—Everything from navigation equipment to demonstrations on skin diving will be shown this weekend at the "biggest boat and sportsman show ever held in Duncan."

"We have sold almost as much space as they did for Victoria's show and more than the one at Nanaimo," said G. P. MacMillan, business manager for the Kiwanis Club which is putting it on.

So far 20 exhibiting spaces have been sold to companies.

"We've had such a wonderful response that we are even going to have some trouble getting some of the boats in the curling rink," he said.

A Victoria firm has agreed to show a 22-foot-long yacht, but the door to the James Street rink where the show will be, is only 11 feet, seven inches high.

"We'll get it in somehow," commented Mr. MacMillan.

Displays will include all types of hunting and fishing equipment as well as unsinkable boats, sailing and power models, a film on water safety and instructions on boating behavior.

Cowichan Reserve Resurvey Set

Cowichan Reserve near Duncan will be resurveyed this summer by a six-man party under I. M. D. Fox, as part of a mapping and charting program being conducted for the surveys and mapping branch of the department of mines and technical surveys, Mines Minister Paul Comtois has announced.

17-Year-Old Fined $15 For Impaired Driving

NANAIMO—A 17-year-old boy was fined $15 in juvenile court here yesterday for impaired driving.

He was also given a year's probation, banned from driving for a month and told that he was not to have liquor "even in his own home."

Fined $150 in police court on an impaired driving charge was Peter Christian Helled of Chemainus. He lost his licence for only 10 days because his livelihood depends on his driving.

In juvenile court, another 17-year-old youth was fined $2.50 for towing another car without a towing licence. Charge was laid under new motor vehicles regulations whereby all towing vehicles have to be licensed.

Do You Hate Rats? If Not, You Should, Says Biologist

It's natural to hate rats. So says Charles Guiguet, provincial museum biologist, who thinks the best rats are dead rats and none of them are good, whether they are plump rural rats purportedly trying to invade the city or refugee rats claimed to be trying to escape from the city to Saanich. Actually, Mr. Guiguet said yesterday, talk of one municipality causing another's rat troubles is "for the birds." Rats will live wherever food is available, he said—if they aren't killed. Saanich has blamed an increasing rat population on Victoria's rat-eradication program, and Victoria has claimed its rats are killed, not expelled, and that its inspectors are busy with invaders from Saanich and Oak Bay. But Mr. Guiguet said rats will thrive—and be a menace

really breed them. I don't think there are any big garbage dumps around, but compost heaps always bring a lot, when people put scraps of food in them." A potential source of bubonic plague through the fleas they carry, rats have come down through man's history as an enemy, Mr. Guiguet said, and man has a natural antipathy to them. "I hate them," he said. "I don't like even handling them or skinning them."

Sidney Vigilantes May Ride

Vigilantes may "ride" in Sidney if vandals continue to ruin the village's best flower gardens.

Angry residents have started talking about organizing a 24-hour watch, after three gardens were destroyed in three successive nights.

It started Sunday night, when the raider uprooted plants and tore off blossoms and left them strewn around the yard of B. L. Martin, of Third Street.

After the same thing happened Monday night at the B.C. Telephone Company's new exchange on Beacon Avenue, a village resident, A. W. Holland, told a neighbor he should build a fence to keep people out.

Wednesday morning, Mr. Holland approached the same neighbor and advised him not to bother with a fence because it wouldn't be worth the effort. During the night, someone had leaped over Mr. Holland's fence and destroyed his garden while leaving untouched the adjoining open garden.

The Sidney flower destruction is similar in pattern to recent vandalism in Campbell River and Nanaimo.

Deputy Magistrate Plan Under Study

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday the advisability and necessity of appointing a deputy police magistrate for Greater Victoria is under study by his department.

Magistrate William Ostler was recently appointed police magistrate but there have been suggestions that he needs an assistant.

Uranium By 1969 In B.C.?

British Columbia could start production of enriched uranium within the next 10 years to supply the British Commonwealth and Western Europe with nuclear power for industrial purposes, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday.

Mr. Bonner, speaking on the province's industrial development, during the annual meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board at the Empress Hotel, said that B.C. has all three requirements necessary for such a plant, physical security, abundance of hydro power and proximity to a uranium source.

British Columbia and Labrador are the only two places in Canada where enriched uranium could be produced, he said, and "it is a probability that B.C. will be looked to for enriched uranium production within the next decade."

Asked whether he thought such a plan could become a reality, Mr. Bonner replied, "I say we can do it, and we should exhaust every effort to encourage that result."

Victoria Day Celebration

'Biggest and Best' Claim for Weekend

More Variety More Events More Entries

This year's Victoria Day weekend celebrations will be the biggest and best in the city's history.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow last night backed up his "biggest and best" claim with these impressive statistics.

1. More events are planned for the holiday weekend than ever before.
2. More variety in Monday's big parade with close to 125 entries making up the three-mile-long cavalcade.
3. More entries in the parade from up-island centres.

NEED GOOD WEATHER

"All we need now is good weather," said Ald. Edgelow, chairman of Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, which is co-ordinating events this weekend.

"We hope people will make this a real family weekend. The program includes something for every member of the family. And those who decide to take a trip outside of Greater Victoria will miss a treat in store for them this weekend."

CROWNING OF QUEEN

Official opening of the celebrations will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow on the steps of the legislative building and will be followed by crowning of the May Queen by Mayor Percy Scourrah.

It will be preceded by a parade with bands and drill teams, horses with riders in colorful western costumes, to preview Monday's grand parade.

ARRIVAL BY COPTER

Highlight of the Saturday program will be arrival of the May Queen and her Princesses by helicopter at Royal Athletic Park for the first half of a double-header arranged by Victoria and District Senior Amateur Baseball Association. The second game will be held in the evening.

The rest of the day's program includes a horse show at Victoria Riding Academy, bicycle races in Beacon Hill Park, soccer game in Macdonald Park and rock and roll dancing in Memorial Arena.

SPEEDBOAT RACES

Highlights of the Sunday program are speedboat races on Elk Lake, sponsored by Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association, and an afternoon band concert in Beacon Hill Park.

The big parade starts at 10 a.m. Monday, with afternoon events including a western horse show in Royal Athletic Park, the annual open house show at Victoria Riding Academy, more soccer at Macdonald Park, and Victoria Motorcycle Club "scramble" races at the Old Colwood Race Course.

Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society will give nightly performances of "Die Fledermaus" in the Royal Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALD. EDELOW ... real family weekend

'I Didn't Do It' —Edgelow

Not guilty, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said yesterday — neither he nor anyone else in Victoria decided to have May 24 on May 18.

Chairman of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, Ald. Edgelow went as far as to agree, partly, with the anonymous writer of a stinging letter.

The writer, overlooking the fact that the federal government decided Victoria Day should be the Monday before May 24, told the alderman he should have his head examined and said he must be a foreigner.

Ald. Edgelow didn't agree with that. But, he said, "I do think it should be the Monday of the nearest weekend to May 24."

Oak Bay Polling Battle Begins

Battle is joined for one of two seats now vacant on Oak Bay council and due to be filled by election June 6.

Contesting seat left vacant by the resignation of Coun. Ralph Mathews are insurance broker Norman Pittam, 37, 3570 Beach Drive, and business manager John A. de Bourcier, 32, 2761 Dufferin. Mr. Mathews resigned because of ill health after being on sick leave for some time.

UNSUCCESSFUL

Mr. de Bourcier, whose intention to contest the seat was announced last night, was an unsuccessful candidate in the Oak Bay municipal elections last December.

For Mr. Pittam, an executive member of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association, it is a first try at public office.

A resident of Oak Bay since 1942, Mr. de Bourcier served for seven years on Greater Victoria school board.

NO CANDIDATES

No candidates have come forward to contest the other seat left open. It became vacant when Coun. F. A. Robinson was disqualified on a property ownership technicality after serving part of his term.

He is seeking re-election on June 6 and appears likely to be returned without opposition.

New council candidate Pittam is a former RAF flight lieutenant in the Second World War and a one-time navigator with British Overseas Airways.

Similar Home Mishaps Injure Saanich Tots

Two Saanich tots, injured in similar home accidents yesterday afternoon, were treated for cuts at St. Joseph's Hospital emergency ward.

Tony Lamprecht, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Lamprecht, 5003 Prospect Lake Road, fell while playing and cut his hand on a piece of glass.

Dianne Matthews, 3½, of 949 Darwin, fell and struck her head on a glass jar. Both were rushed to hospital by Saanich police.

Bids Asked Next Week To Wreck Public Market

Specifications are complete and tenders will be called Monday or Tuesday for demolition of the public market and firehall building, city engineer James C. Garnett said yesterday.

Deadline for tenders probably will be around the end of the month, he said.

City council has talked in general terms — but without yet making a formal decision — of turning the site into a parking lot.

Cowichan Determined To Win Safety Award

DUNCAN—North Cowichan municipal accident prevention committee heard this week that the municipal safety awards contest finishes June 30 and that they are still among those municipalities with no accidents since July 1, 1958.

Fifty per cent of the points in the contest are given on the accident record frequency and the remainder on the type of policy pursued in preventing accidents.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison and his four-man committee representing staff and management feel that they can win this award to be presented at the UBCM convention during September at Kelowna.

Among the preventives brought into force are hard hats and safety boots, eye shields for certain workers, and strict regulations covering all equipment and maintenance men.

At present just under 50 per cent of the competing municipalities have had no accidents. The awards will be given in three size groups, depending on the population of the municipality and the number of workers involved.

NANAIMO — A Brannan Lake Industrial School inmate was transferred to open court and sentenced to a year in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla for breaking and entering.

PORT ALBERNI — Drum Major Terry McIntosh was a double award winner at the annual inspection and ceremonial parade of the Canadian Scottish Regiment Cadet Corps 2308.

He received the Fred King Skean Dhu for his contribution to the corps band and the Hugh Reid Trophy for marksmanship.

The best cadet award, presented by inspecting officer Lt.-Col. J. C. Cave, went to Cadet Sgt. Robert Beardmore, while Bandsman Jim McKnight received the "D" Company award as best first year cadet.

Lt.-Col. Cave described the performance of the corps as "excellent" when he commended the cadets and their instructors.

Following the general salute and inspection, training demonstrations were given by the boys. Parade commander was Cadet Warrant Officer Allan Robb, with Sgt. William Nordmark second in command.

Sgt. Robert Woodward conducted a demonstration of driving in which a three-ton truck was manoeuvred in the drill hall, the driver directed by hand signals. A feature of the show was the precision drill by the 22-piece drum and trumpet band under CQMS Drum Major McIntosh.

Chief instructor, Capt. R. J. Gornall, acted as master of ceremonies for the awards presentation.

NANAIMO — International piping and dancing competitions will be included in the Highland Games here July 11, secretary Ronald Holmes announced. The Nanaimo games have joined the Pacific International Highland Games Association and therefore qualify for competitive events.

Victorian Making Bid For Top Lions Club Post

A Victoria electrical contractor, Ernest H. Emery, is making a strong bid to become the first Vancouver Islander to head District 19 of Lions International at an 1,800-member convention in the Empress Hotel seemed well on the way to victory last yesterday.

His prime opponent in the race to head the Lions district which covers most of British Columbia, part of Washington and part of Idaho, is Gordon Smith of Bellingham.

Mr. Emery told the Colonist yesterday he and his supporters are counting on the full backing of B.C. delegates, plus strong support from the Washington contingent from the Olympic Peninsula. Outcome of the election will be known later today.

He is a charter member of the Victoria Lions Club and has an attendance record of never having missed a weekly meeting in 18 years.

A highlight of the convention will be presentation of a $4,500 donation to CARE through Swedish industrialist Per Stahl, third vice-president of Lions International.

Work Starts Today

GENEVA, May 13 (UPI)—The East-West foreign ministers conference set a postwar record yesterday by getting down to work without an agreed agenda after only two days of procedural wrangling.

The West forced the pace of the four-power parley by bypassing procedural differences with the Soviet Union and plunging over Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko's head into the substance of the conference.

Russia, significantly, gave in to the West's insistence on shelving the controversial issue of Polish and Czech representation at the conference.

PACKAGE PLAN
The West will today present the East-West foreign ministers' conference with a three-phase package plan combining a German settlement with big reductions in United States and Russian armed forces.

The Soviets probably will bring the procedural issue up at some later stage of the conference, but the fact remains they made no stand to force their demand for seating the Poles and Czechs.

Gromyko's acquiescence strongly indicated Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's desire to avoid an early clash with the West which could jeopardize his much-cherished trip to the summit.

GIVEN IN TWICE

The Soviets thus have given in on the two major procedural points which threatened the conference from the start: they bowed to the Western opposition against admission of the East Germans as full conference partners, and allowed the temporary shelving of Polish and Czech participation.

Most of the procedural squabble was resolved in backstage talks, instead of at the conference table in the limelight of world publicity.

But Gromyko was certain to chalk up "concessions" and use them to back demands for Western counter-concessions on the more basic issues of the cold war.

Wandering Mandarin Up to Date

City Greets Lions In Oriental Splendor

Food Stall Once More In Market

Victoria's surplus food stall, distributing free food to the needy, will be held for the last time in the old market building on May 23. The food stall will shift to new quarters at the rear of the Elks Home at 732A Cormorant.

An "Oriental Night" extravaganza jamming Chinatown on Fisgard Street with crowds, Chinese pageantry and fireworks, welcomed 1,800 visiting Lions Club members to Victoria last night for start of a four-day convention.

Motif of the display, staged by the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club in the traditional Chinese combination of color, pomp and joviality, was a modern version of the mythological Wandering Mandarin's travels.

THOUSANDS WATCH
Seen by more than 3,000 in a barricaded block of Fisgard, the show got the 38th annual district 19 convention of the Lions International off to a fast start.

Today the Lions were due to settle down to the more muted roaring of general sessions at the Empress Hotel, marked by welcome addresses from Labor Minister Lyle Wicks for the province and Mayor Percy Scurrell for the city.

GOVERNOR IN CHAIR

The sessions will be called to order by Louis L. Valentine, Lions district 19-A governor. Attending the convention are delegates from the Pacific Northwest.

Top speaker is Per Stahl, third vice-president of Lions International and managing director of a Swedish industrial firm, who is flying to Victoria for the convention.

HOTELS FILL

Influx of the 1,800 visitors added a big bulge to growing numbers of tourists to the city and helped fill city hotels to capacity. Some hotels were reporting no more rooms available.

The Chinatown spectacle last night featured the Chinese Girls' Drill Team, the traditional dragon dance, a hula, an exotic Indian dance, and the yo-yo artistry of Lion Harvey Lowe.

At one point, the Sacred Sampan bearing the Mandarin and the Fairies to India, listed severely and was saved from capsizing only by the intervention of three "foreign devils" bearing news cameras.

Jet Pilots Follow Leader to Death

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—Three jet fighters, part of a night training flight, suddenly whipped out of formation early Wednesday and crashed follow-the-leader fashion one after another into the Atlantic. All three pilots were killed.

Officers at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base had no explanation for the crash. There was no collision.

'Illegal' Procedures

Hockey Stars Got $57,000 from City

TORONTO (UPI)—The auditor who checks the books for the city of Belleville said Wednesday the city paid out nearly $57,000 in salaries to the world champion Belleville McFarlands hockey team over the past three years.

F. A. R. MacFadden's report has been turned over to the Ontario municipal affairs department.

MacFadden also said the hockey club's deficit of $102,000 at the end of last year was financed by bank overdraft and advances from the city's general fund. He said these procedures "appear to be illegal."

In all, MacFadden says, the Belleville arena and hockey club appear to owe the city $95,000.

City manager Drury Denyes, who is also manager of the hockey club, resigned from his city job early this week. Municipal Affairs Minister William Warrender said he will order a judicial inquiry into the city's finances if the evidence warrants one.

In calling for the investigation, Mayor Gerald Hyde said the money was not stolen, just spent without authorization. The auditor's report showed that the players' salaries were paid out of the general fund.

Talk It Out—Mayor

Strike Threat Still Menacing

Possibility of a strike of Victoria city's outside workers appeared little diminished yesterday as the result of a 2½-hour meeting of union representatives and city manager C. C. Wyatt.

"There was nothing conclusive at all," Mr. Wyatt said afterward.

But, he said, he did make a point of the fact that every step should be taken to prevent a strike because of the inconvenience to the public. And he said he thought it possible there would be another meeting.

Before the meeting, Mayor Percy Scurrell had said he hoped the Civic Employees' Protective Union, representing about 250 outside workers, would agree to arbitration, "because there is going to be a compromise somewhere along the line, and why not talk it out instead of striking?"

Union members voted Monday and Tuesday approximately 95 per cent in favor of striking if necessary to back up their demand for a bigger wage increase than the 7½ cents an hour city council has offered.

NO GREAT ALARM
City officials showed no great alarm over the prospect of an outside workers' strike, especially at this season.

A short-lived strike by the same union in 1954, ending in arbitration, produced little hardship for citizens.

The streets became unsightly in places for lack of cleaning, and some of the aldermen received threats that uncollected garbage would be dumped on their lawns.

Street-lighting and traffic signals are taken care of by members of another union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and lack of garbage collection probably would be the biggest problem in a strike.

"Inside" workers at city hall wouldn't collect it, either, an official of the inside workers' union said yesterday.

Firms Pay One-Tenth Theft Value

TORONTO (CP)—An insurance company in an "underworld" deal has bought back $1,409,787 worth of stolen bonds at 10 cents on the dollar, Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario, said Wednesday.

He disclosed the behind-the-scenes deal as he flicked through the pages of another chapter in the history of the multi-million-dollar robbery of the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Company.

Police investigation has extended as far as Switzerland since a slick crew equipped with $600 worth of vault-breaking tools carted off loot totalling an estimated $10,000,000 the weekend of May 3-4, 1958.

All but $310,000 "has been accounted for or traced." However, $2,300,000 in bonds was still outstanding.
